"You're Mighty Welcome" Guarantee

We guarantee every bulb, root or plant sent out by us to be just as represented and to be in good growing condition. We cannot guarantee results, as conditions of planting, cultivation or weather are beyond our control; however, if a bulb or flower of any kind does not grow, we will cheerfully replace it without expense to our customers. We want every flower that leaves THE TRIANGLE FARMS to prove satisfactory and to show its “fetchin’ up.” While we exercise every care, errors may occur occasionally. Should this happen, notify us at once and correction will be promptly and cheerfully made. YOUR ARE THE JUDGES.

Terms

Remittance must accompany all orders.
All goods ordered from this catalog are sent prepaid unless otherwise specified.
Make all checks, drafts or money orders payable to THE TRIANGLE FARMS, Circleville, Ohio.

Time of Shipment

Gladioli are shipped the latter part of March and first part of April until May 15th. Irises in July, August and September. Tulips in October and November. Pansies and Perennials in the Spring.

Early Orders

It is our advice to PLACE YOUR ORDERS EARLY, as our supply of a number of the items listed in the catalog is very limited, and it’s sad to be disappointed.

No orders for gladioli or other Spring bulbs or plants will be filled after May 15th.

Kick—if you have one Coming...

If a mule was all ears and bray, everyone would be giving him a slap, but to equalize matters, the Creator endowed him with a good strong pair of hind legs, so that, whether you like him or not, you’ve just got to respect his legs. There’s power in his KICK.

Far be it from us to compare our patrons to a mule, but we want them to KICK if there is cause. If a bulb or plant does not prove satisfactory, let us know at once and if possible, it will be replaced immediately. If the time for replacement is past when the KICK is received, replacement will be made the following season.

When registering a KICK, it is not necessary to file an affidavit; send back a dead bulb or plant or give us a “cussin’.” Just drop us a line and tell us and we will gladly make restitution.
Well, Here We Are Again

We have been in the flower growing game (and it is a game; for a grower surely takes plenty of chances) almost ten years and have gone through the spasm of six previous catalogs. You'd think that would be enough for almost any one, but, "I'm a hog for punishment" and am taking a chance on writing the seventh.

By way of introduction to those who have not received our previous catalogs, we will quote from our last catalog:

Several interested friends have written and asked us who and what we are; so for their information and for the benefit of those who are too modest to inquire, I will state I am not a Doctor of Divinity, chiropodist or pugilist; I'm just an ordinary common or garden variety of M. D.—physician and surgeon; Rotarian, Past Commander of Knight Templars; veteran the Spanish-American war; Surgeon for the N. & W. Railroad; have brought enough babies into this "old vale of tears and laughter" to form two whole regiments at full war-time quota and "going strong;" married; Methodist (poor specimen); white; male; bald-headed (fine specimen); exceedingly modest and retiring. So that's that.

I have been often asked what was my principal business or profession—physician or flower grower? I'll never tell you. It's a question whether the dog wags the tail or the tail wags the dog.

Friends have asked, "How in the world did a busy doctor like you ever get mixed up in flower growing so extensively?" It's a question pretty hard to answer. Always being a lover of flowers and birds, my activities had consisted in the study of wild flowers and birds' eggs. While this study has not been given up entirely, not as much time is given to it as formerly. Knowing from experience how a small bouquet would cause a patient's eyes to brighten and give him a new lease on life, the thought came, "Why not grow a few more flowers and have enough to give as many as I pleased, a whole armful if I so desired?"

That was the beginning. At first a small backyard garden was amply sufficient for my needs. Then it became necessary to spade up some more lawn until finally there was no grass left except what was needed for paths between flower beds. One of the last landmarks to go was a walnut tree. This caused more caustic comment than anything else, but "constant dripping will wear away the stone." Many mighty fine arguments were advanced why it should go, such as water drains being filled with leaves, too much shade on that side of the house and the like, but when it became infested with grey woolly worms, consent to its removal was heartily given.

The bulbs increased so rapidly, both by natural increase and by the application of silver fertilizer, dug with no great amount of reluctance from the pocketbook, that it became necessary to plant most of the flowers at the farms.
Someone has asked, “How do you find time to practice medicine and grow flowers too?” There is but one answer and I hereby want to give credit where credit is due—cheerful and efficient co-workers—the Triangle force of men and women—the finest in the world, and a good motto, “If I rest, I rust.”

A kiss of the sun for pardon;
A song of the bird for mirth;
One is nearer God’s heart in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth.

It is with a feeling of great incompetency that we shall attempt to describe our flowers; for who can paint a pen picture of a beautiful “glad,” a gorgeous tulip or a dainty iris? It takes a greater vocabulary than we possess.

With us, flowers have a personality and we hope that our patrons will try to look upon them in the same manner. When the glads are beginning to come into bloom, it seems as though each day we are meeting old friends returning from a long journey. We feel like saying, as we see Mary Pickford coming into bloom, “Hello, Mary, how’s Doug?” Or, as Evelyn Kirtland opens her glorious blossoms, “Well, Evelyn, you surely are looking well,” or when Louise appears in all her beauty, “Why, bless your little heart, you don’t need to use any powder or lipstick, do you?” And it sometimes seems that they answer back and say, “Howdy, Doc; see that you are still on the job, Old Scout.” We hope our friends will learn the names of their flowers, and will have just as much fun as we have in knowing them personally.

Those who have received our previous catalogs will find many new faces in the ranks of gladiolus, as well as a remarkable reduction of price with many varieties.

We suppose it is rank heresy, but in the descriptions that follow, we do not adhere to, nor are we guided by Ridgway’s Nomenclature of Colors. Rose doree, grenadine pink, pinard yellow, etc., ad infinitum, mean less than nothing to the average flower lover, so we have tried (often with poor success) to describe the blooms as they appear to the average person, but we hope the description will carry a mental picture, however incomplete it may be. “If this be treason, make the most of it.”

GLADIOLI

WITH the exception of questions concerning culture, there is no question more frequently asked than the correct pronunciation of the word, gladiolus. As the official pronunciation is changed with every change of the moon, we were prompted to pen the following lines of doggerel:

Some folks call me glad-dee'-olus, (from gladius, meaning sword)
And some call me glad-die'-olus, a dictionary word.
Some call me gladi-o'-lus, which really is not bad,
But when I bloom my very best, both you and I'll be GLAD.

Gladiolus Culture

Although no flower gives more satisfaction than the Gladiolus, with ordinary care and culture in average soils, yet it readily responds to high culture, and the superior blooms produced by special attention amply repay for the additional care. Only those who have seen the Gladiolus at its best can realize the vast difference between the blossoms produced by first-class methods and those less carefully grown. We strongly advise our friends to employ only the best cultural methods possible.

It is advantageous to spade in a good covering of manure late in the Fall preceding the plantings. The richer the soil and better the care and culture, the better the results will be. In the Spring, when the soil is in proper condition, spade deeply and pulverize thoroughly. Fresh manure should not be used. Select a sunny location. „Glads” are like folks—they need a lot of sunshine or they appear pale and anemic and sickly.

For a long blooming season, plant at intervals of about two weeks from first garden-making time until the middle or latter part of June. Bulbs can be planted four inches deep and over in mellow soils, and four to eight inches apart in the row. The deeper planting will help to keep the plants from falling over at blooming time.

Frequent thorough waterings of the soil in the beds at evening is a wonderful stimulant, and gives the blooms much greater sun resistance and lasting qualities. Keep the soil well worked, especially early the next forenoon after being watered the previous evening. Always keep a soil crust from forming in the rows among the plants. After blooming spikes begin to show, cultivate only about two inches deep. Do not work the soil when wet. Do not plant too near to walls or shrubbery.

Varieties vary in different soils and seasons. Some do their best only in alternate years. Some varieties produce monster bulbs while others produce small ones. The bulbs of most varieties have a fine satiny covering, but some have a rough husk.

Slender stakes of wood or bamboo painted a light green make good supports for the spikes at blooming time. Where horizontal lines are used they should be fastened to end posts firmly set and the wires tightly stretched.

If wanted for cut-flower purposes, the flower-spikes should be cut when the first bloom opens. Four leaves of the plant should remain to properly mature the bulb. After cutting the flower-spike, place it in water. One bud after another will open. Each morning cut off the stem on a long slant, remove the withered flowers and give fresh water. Drooping flowers will revive, if placed in a cool cellar over night.

Dig bulbs during October; cut off the top close to the bulb and cure by drying a few days in or out-of-doors, then store away in boxes not over four inches deep in a cool part of a frost-proof cellar. Bulbs should not be kept in air-tight packages.

We guarantee every bulb to grow and bloom true to name the first season. The price is for a blooming sized bulb.

“A little friendship is no little matter.”
NEW INTRODUCTIONS

Blenn
(Our Introduction for 1928)

BLENN has about every good quality a glad should have. Immense blossoms of wonderful substances, frequently seven and one-half inches across and so intensely ruffled that the edges seem to be pleated by the hand of an expert needlewoman. The placement of the florets is perfect on the strong, tall willowy stem. But all this fades into insignificance when we consider the color, which is a rich glowing salmon-pink with an immense cream colored throat, marked with fine inconspicuous parallel lines of purplish. The impression given is that of an enormous cream colored glad with a wide edge or frill of salmon-pink. BLENN stands in a class by himself and will head the parade of new and worth-while glads for many a year. We believe BLENN to be the outstanding figure in the gladiolus world. Supply very limited. Only one bulb to a customer, at twenty-five dollars each.

The Triangle Farms' Introductions for 1930

Barton

Named in honor of our grandson, Barton Bales Deming, and as fine a glad as he is a boy, and that's saying "a lot." Great big wide open blossoms—five or six of them open at one time—perfectly placed on a stem, not too slender, nor too thick. The color is just too pretty for words—pink, with a sort of salmon undertone and a large creamy throat. No use talking, BARTON is one pretty glad and as strong and sturdy as can be. You're "just naturally" bound to like him. Each, $3.00.

Nasturtium

Looks just like it sounds. Good sized blooms, one poised above the other but not crowded, on tall strong, straight stems. Nasturtium colored—orange-red with a yellow throat which is finely speckled with red. If you were in a garden with five hundred varieties of blooming glads and were told to pick out the one named NASTURTIUM, you would instantly pick out this one. Exceedingly brilliant and in a color class all its own. Mighty fine. Each, $2.00.

Wake Robin

How will we describe its color? Rosy cerise; rosy violet; purple with a rose undertone. The color is so different; it's uncanny. The large white throat gives the bloom a sort of alert, snappy, wide-awake appearance. There are several of the big blossoms open at one time on the best of stems. A good sturdy, upstanding, fine and unusual glad. "Nuf ced." Each, $2.00.

Special Introductory Offer

One each of BARTON, NASTURTIUM and WAKE ROBIN (catalog value, $7.00), for $6.00.

"Live every day as though you had lived all your life just for this day."
General List of Standard Varieties

Acme. A peculiarly colored Glad of old rose. The lower petals are cream with a sprinkling of dark rose. Unusual and fine. Each, 25c; $2.50 per doz.

Albania. Pure glistening white; the flowers wide open, very large, with broad, well-rounded petals having finely ruffled edges. Certainly a beautiful white variety and as pure as freshly fallen snow.

Albion. Tall stems bearing large blossoms of salmon-rose with a peculiar pinkish tinge. Mighty pretty.

Alhambra. Large flowers of brilliant scarlet. Looms up in the garden like a “house afire.” Stock very limited.

Alice Tiplady. Probably the most popular Gladiolus that has a strain of the Primulinus species in its veins. Beautiful large flowers of brilliant orange-saffron. A bright spot in the garden. Alice never disappoints.

American Beauty.

Alma Gluck. Beautiful bright peach-red with a conspicuous creamy yellow throat. Slender, graceful stems; large, wide-open flowers. Just as sweet as she can be.

Altair. Extra tall Primulinus hybrid of finest salmon-saffron. One of the very first to bloom. The flowers are smiling at you long before a number of the other varieties have made up their minds to bloom. Very frequently will present you with two or more spikes in one season. A mighty welcome “early bird.”

Alton. A magnificently ruffled variety of bright orange color. Strong grower and a beauty.

Ambassador. Tall, distinguished gentleman of dark pink with a crimson, white spotted throat. Very dignified. A fine variety.

When you’re right, you don’t need to lose your temper; when you’re wrong, you can’t afford to.
Each, 5c; 6 for 25c; 40c per doz.

American Beauty. Brilliant American Beauty rose color; creamy yellow throat. A large number of flowers open at one time; each spike is a bouquet in itself.
Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

Anamosa. Tall, orange-salmon Primulina hybrid with a golden throat. Fine.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Angel’s Dream. Immense spikes with many open florets of a soft caressing pink. Surely a mighty pretty Glad. One of the outstanding new varieties and bound to be popular with all who see it.
Each, $10.00.

Angola. One of Kunderd’s fine Primulina hybrids. Soft salmon-pink; a beauty.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Beatrice. The tall stalks gracefully carry the large blossoms of cream color with a veining of pink. The pink is so laid over the cream as to give the flower a crinkled effect. A mighty pretty glad.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Best Violet. Fine, tall spike of many open blossoms of reddish violet with fine hair lines of gold. Extra good as a cut flower.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Betty Bales. Originated by Mr. M. F. Wright and named for our daughter. About as near true blue as has been attained. Dainty and beautiful.

Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Betty Darnell. Light canary yellow shading to golden yellow in the throat. Several large flowers open at a time. Well placed on the spike. One of the very best yellows. A mighty fine “glad.”

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Betty Murray. Beautiful shade of rose-pink, deepening a little in the throat. Very large and showy.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Black Pansy. Richest dark red with a beautiful pansy-like throat. One of the finest in this color.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Blood Spot. Large spike with two rows of open blossoms of dark mahogany splashed with blood-red on the lower petals. A vase of this variety in a room with mulberry drapes is a thing of beauty. Unique in its somber coloring.

Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Blue Jay. Large flowers of bright blue with pure white spots in the throat. One of the bluest of Glads.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Bon Echo. Large, waxy flowers of cream and pink; perfectly blended on tall, straight stems. Robust grower. Mighty fine.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Bonny. Large ruffled blossoms of lavender with an undertone of rose-pink. A beautiful variety of uncommon coloring.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Bordeaux. Beautiful large flowers of deep wine color. Tall spikes and probably the earliest of the dark colored varieties.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Break o’ Day. One of the top-notchers. Immense pink blossoms with soft creamy yellow blotches on the lower petals. Must be seen to be really appreciated. Extra large and extra fine.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

"What this country needs is dirtier finger nails and cleaner minds."
Bright Wings. Light pink, shading to much deeper pink edges. A pale yellow blotch on the central lower petal. Immense six-inch ruffled, wide open blooms and as many as a half dozen of them open at one time and they are perfectly placed on the extremely tall stems. This is certainly Dr. Neely’s masterpiece. Simply wonderful.
Each, $25.00.

Bunker Hill. Immense crimson flowers with the lower petals covered with bright yellow. Tall imposing spikes. Wonderfully showy. A regular “he” glad.
Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Butterfly (Burbank’s). Brilliant salmon with prominent throat blotches of deep maroon and yellow. It is well named. This is not as well known as the following variety and is not seen in many gardens. Beautiful.
Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Butterfly (Kunderd’s). The large, pale salmon-yellow ruffled flowers are airily poised on long, slender spikes. Due to its Primulinus ancestry, it sometimes sends up several spikes of bloom from one bulb. Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Byron L. Smith. So many folks in our gardens have referred to the different varieties as looking like orchids (and this included every color from intense red to pure white) that we usually refrain from referring to any variety as “rivaling the orchid.” Here is one, however, that is as finely colored as any cattleya. The color is a delicate lavender pink on a white ground; lighter in the throat. Almost fairy-like in its daintiness.
Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Cameo. The upper petals are cream with a tinge of pink. The lower petals are light yellow shading to creamy white at the tips. Tall, straight, early and slightly ruffled. Beautiful and a favorite with those who admire delicate coloring.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Capella. Tall, very bright and clear reddish orange. A real pretty Primulinus hybrid. Large and free blooming.
Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 80c per doz.

Captain Boynton. Beautiful light lavender with a deeper lavender blotch in the throat. Tall spikes with several large blossoms open at one time. One of the finest lavender glads in existence.
Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Captain Courageous. Great big, rich, velvety blood-red blossoms flaked with a deeper red. Tall spike with several blooms open at one time. Well named, for he is the kind of glad that will look anyone in the face and tell them “what’s what.” Each, $2.50.

Captain Fryatt. We don’t know who the real Captain Fryatt is or was, but if he was anything like his namesake, he was a bloody pirate of the bounding main. Immense brilliant red blossoms with intense scarlet blotch on the lower petal. This blotch is tipped with a little yellow goatee. Tall spike with several flaming blooms open at one time. A row of this glad in the garden looks like the beginning of a prairie fire.
Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Cardinal Prince. Large flowers of rich cardinal red of excellent form and perfect placement borne on tall stems. Six to eight open at one time. Certainly the finest glad in this color. Unreservedly recommended.
Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.
Carmen Sylva. Beautiful large snowy white blossoms on tall, slender, straight stems. Excellent cut flower.
A perfect beauty. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Caruso. Nothing anaemic or half starved about this individual. He's a great big, full blooded, hard boiled, double fisted fellow. Bright flame red with a darker, white bordered blotch in the throat. Florets well placed on fine stems. Stock very limited. Each, $1.50.

Catherine. Light grayish blue; lower petals a little deeper in color and with a brownish red spot. Tall spike and mighty pretty.
Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Cattleya. Soft lilac-rose with white throat blotches. Delicately beautiful. Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Chameleon. One of those smoky, changeable silk, orientally colored varieties. Presents a different color combination every time you look at it. A fresh delight every day. Decidedly different.
Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Charlemagne. Gorgeous, large, wide open, sunrise red blossoms, flaked darker; creamy throat blotch. Fine. Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.25 per doz.

Charm. Large ruffled blossoms of deep rose-pink with a dark blotch on the lower petals. A beauty.
Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Chateau Thierry. Bright cerise; a red blotch bordered with yellow on lower petals. Tall spike of large, widely expanded and well formed flowers. A bright spot in the garden.
Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Chicago White. The blossoms are white with faint lines of rose on the lower petals. Very early and a popular florist's flower. Each, 5c; 45c per doz.

Clio. Large, wide open blossoms of light rose. Throat white with dark speckles. Fine.
Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Conspicuous. Light blue; throat blotch yellow, bordered with dark blue. Unusually colored. Reminds one of a pansy.
Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Copper Bronze. Coppery orange, extensively flaked and shaded with "smoky." Red tongues of flame on the lower petals. Large pointed petaled blooms on slender stems. Mighty well named for it surely has a metallic appearance. Oddly beautiful.
Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Copperhead. An odd, yet attractive variety. Pale coppery orange; the inner petals yellow with a copper tongue.
Each, 10c; 90c per doz.

Coral Belle. Just the color of a coral necklace, shading to a white throat. Good sized blooms, well placed on tall slender stems. A beauty.
Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Coronado. Immense white blossoms with prominent purple feathers in the throat, and it's so ruffled it is almost pleated. The blossoms are wide open and flaring; perfectly placed on tall, straight, sturdy stems. Sort of reminds one of an immense white bird soaring in the sky. One of the most beautiful glads we have been privileged to see. Stock very limited.
Each, $10.00.

Why regret anything? I take my days as they come; I try not to hurt others; I call that good, which gives pleasure and happiness; and that evil, which gives pain.—Erskine.
Corunna. A strikingly unusual flower. The soft garnet-red blossoms are large with widely spreading, pointed petals. Large almost coal black blotches bordered with white, combine to make this an extraordinary flower. Sort of reminds one of a Navajo blanket.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.45 per doz.

Deutschland. Soft pink with deeper pink markings in the throat. Tall spike, with many blossoms open at one time. “Made in Germany,” but good.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Diana. Gorgeous bright red blossoms on tall spikes. Wide oval flowers well placed on the stem. A fine variety.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Dorothy McKibbin. Fine ruffled pink. Pure apple blossoms tint; many open at a time; very early and an excellent cut flower. Dorothy is a mighty pretty girl. You’ll love her.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Dorothy Wheeler. Here is another beautiful Dorothy. The flowers are a delicate rose-pink, well placed on a slender, graceful stem. You’ll make no mistake if you have both Dorothys in your garden. Both are as good as they are beautiful.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Dream. The massive ruffled blossoms are deep salmon-red with large showy throat blotches of dark red. A strong, sturdy, upstanding fellow that lo’oks you right in the eye.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Dr. F. E. Bennett. Flowers of the largest size and of the most fiery red imaginable. Many open at one time and perfectly placed on the stem. One of the best red glads.

Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Early Snowflake. Here is a beauty. The color is rich, creamy white with a tinge of yellow in the throat. Looks more like a pure Easter Lily than a gladiolus and the resemblance increases as the spike becomes more nearly “bloomed out.” Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Early Sunrise. Large flowers of pinkish salmon with yellow throats. Big blossoms, well placed on sturdy spikes. Early and fine. Recommended.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

E. J. Shaylor. Oh Boy! You should see "Ole Man Shaylor" when he is in his prime. Large ruffled blossoms of pure, deep rose-pink on tall, straight spikes. Stands right up and says “Howdy do.”

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.
Elberton. Fine light creamy yellow, butterfly-shaped flowers; deeper in the throat; tall, graceful stems. One of the best in its color.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Elf. Lemon-yellow when in bud; the fully opened flowers are snow-white with lemon-yellow on the lower petal. Large flowers on a straight spike. Particularly good as a cut flower.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Elizabeth Swartley. A sport of 1910 Rose and as hardy as its "Daddy." The color is a clear pink with a creamy white throat. Surely a fine Glad and one the florists will demand when the cost of bulbs is less. A good one.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Elizabeth Tabor. Large flowers of delicate rose-pink; lower petals have a brilliant crimson blotch which is tipped with soft yellow. Tall spike. Exceedingly early, blooming in from 50 to 60 days. A good one.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Each, 50c; 3 for $1.25; $4.80 per doz.

Elora. Large blossoms of creamy white with a deeper colored throat. Lower petals with a feathering of pink. Very early. One of Burbank's good ones.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Elsia. A wonderfully pretty golden yellow Glad originated by F. A. Wetzel of Syracuse, N. Y. Large blossoms; tall, graceful stems; rich color; hardy constitution; a beauty.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Emile Aubrun. A great big, two-fisted Glad from France. The petals of the immense flowers are almost as thick as a calla lily and stand out as if made of cardboard. The color has been described as begonia-rose, but there is an overlay of a smoky tint hard to describe. The whole flower has a sort of metallic bronzy appearance which serves as an admirable background for the brilliant cherry blotch in the throat. An unusual and exceedingly striking Glad.

Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

Enigma. Tall plant with large flowers which are strikingly striped with red, white and blue. (Draw a little upon the imagination for the blue). It is well named. A vase of these flowers is oddly beautiful. There is no other Glad anything like it.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Ethel. Bright variegated pink with yellowish throat. Straight spike with several blossoms open at one time. Delicately beautiful.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Ethelyn. Brilliant orange, more intensely colored in the throat and with a faint tipping of bronze. Tall slender spike with several blossoms open at one time. A distinct and brilliant addition to any garden. A beauty.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Eugene Lefebre. Great big bright pink blossoms with the throat spotted and dotted purple-amaranth and cream. An impetuous Frenchman and all that the name implies. You'll like Eugene if you're a man, but you'll love him if you're a lady.

Each, 50c; $5.00 per doz.

The Big Head has ruined more men than any other bad habit.
Evelyn Kirtland. Ah! Here’s a real Glad if there ever was one! Without a doubt one of the finest, regardless of price. The blossoms are an exquisite shade of melting pink, deepening toward the edge of the petals. Brilliant scarlet blotches on the lower petals; tall, handsome spike. No garden is complete without her. Having a “little fairy in the home” cannot compare with having a little Evelyn in the garden.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Eula Terry. “Elegance, purity of color and daintiness are the characteristics of this flower,” says Mrs. Bonisteel, the originator of this fine Glad. Beautiful, pure rose with the interior of the petal several shades lighter. Tall, straight grower. A beauty.

Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Fair Columbian. Tall, vigorous plant with large, fine, showy lilac blossoms with deeper colored throat. Mighty fine.

Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Fairy Lantern. Deep rosy cerise veined and variegated with cream; large throat blotches of bright yellow. Has the appearance of a deep yellow Glad with a rosy border. It wouldn’t take a whole lot of imagination to picture the blooms as rosy lanterns lighted with a yellow light inside. Very early. An extra fine Glad.

Each, $2.50.

Faith. This is the most beautiful of all the blue Glads. Just the color of the sky as it is seen through the fleecy white clouds of Summer. There are two inconspicuous feathers of pale lilac on the lower petals. Tall spike with several large blooms open at one time. Almost too pretty to be real.

Each, $25.00.

Fastidious. Immense wide-open blossoms of delicate shell-pink shading to ivory white in the throat. Without doubt, one of the very, very best Glads.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Fern Kyle. Large, ruffled blossoms of white, faintly tinted with cream, rather compactly placed on good, strong stems. Several open at one time. A mighty pretty Glad and a popular one, too.

Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Fire Ribbon. Tall spikes with many blossoms open at one time. We have had spikes in our garden that bore twenty-two opened flowers and buds showing color. The spike is a long, fiery band of glowing color. Early; exceedingly rich; strikingly showy. Each spike is a bouquet.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Forest Sprite. Great big blooms of carmine shaded creamy at the edges. Several well placed florets open at one time. A charming and distinct new variety and one that is bound to become popular.

Each, $1.50; $15.00 per doz.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Frank J. McCoy. As many as twelve, large, well placed blossoms open at one time. Brilliant pink with a darker feather in the throat. No written description can convey the majestic beauty of this grand Glad. It must be seen. Simply wonderful.

Each, $5.00.

Freckles. A peculiarly red and yellow striped Primulinus hybrid. Glad Bill says of it: “Reminds one of a red-headed, freckle-faced boy. Just as full of pep as that boy.” Every circus needs a clown; so should every garden, and Freckles fills the bill.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Gaiety. Bright salmon-pink, flaked deep salmon-red. Very conspicuous, pure white blotches on the lower petals. Large flowers, tall spikes, exceptionally attractive and a great favorite.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Gallant Leader. A great big, tall rascal of pure pink, with a creamy white throat. Several well placed blooms open at one time on the spikes that tower high above most of the Glads in the garden. A mighty pretty Glad.

Each, $3.00.
Garden Sprite. Different from any Glad we have ever seen. Creamy white with the tip of each petal shrimp-pink. Several good sized, well placed blooms open at one time. Bright and cheerful and "altogether lovely." A perfect darling. Introduced this year by the Austins. Each, $2.00.

Genesee. One of John C. Davis' good ones. Tall, erect spikes bearing many open flowers of pale yellow with a peculiarly beautiful yellowish buff throat. Mighty pretty.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Gen. Pershing. Well named. Tall, erect spikes with three or four large flowers open at one time. The upper parts are pale salmon-pink and the lower petals are yellow marked with carmine. A mighty fine fellow to have in your garden.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Giant Myrtle. Large, wide-open flowers of softest pink. Lovely.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Giant Nymph. Immense rose-pink flowers with creamy yellow throats borne on tall, erect stems. Several open at one time. Fine. The supply is never equal to the demand for this wonderful variety.

Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

Giant White. An extra large white variety of strong, rank growth; the pure white blossoms have slight pinkish lavender markings on lower petals. A garden favorite.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Gladdie Boy. No use talking, Gladdie Boy is surely a beauty. Sort of pinkish orange with yellow deep in the throat. Tall stems; 6 to 8 well placed blossoms open at one time; wavy petals; fine.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Glendale. A beautiful Glad of an unusual shade and color. It has the exact shade of red found in that variety of cyclamen which usually blooms at Christmas time.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Glory of the U. S. A. A brilliant Glad of a peculiar shade of color, sort of a red-orange-pink combination hard to describe. There is a yellow spot on the lower petal. Several well placed blooms open at one time on tall spikes. This is an Alice Tiplady seedling, but very, very much better than his "ma." A fine Glad in every way.

Each, $10.00.

Gold. Pure golden yellow with the throat a little deeper in color. Large blossoms and several open at one time. A favorite.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Gold Drop. An extra large and extra tall ruffled Primulina hybrid; pure deep yellow with fine red lines in the lower petals. "Bright as a dollar."

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Gold Eagle. Good sized blooms of rich, pure deep yellow and absolutely unmarked. Several blooms open on tall, graceful stems, and best of all, it's very early. You're bound to like it.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

"Notice—To the Weather Man—Come home; all is forgiven."

Golden King. Clear, unfading yellow with a vivid crimson blotch in the throat. The flowers are good sized, well opened and well spaced on strong, straight spikes. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Golden Measure. Great tall upstanding spikes of pure golden yellow blossoms—and that's Golden Measure. Probably the finest Glad ever originated in England. It's as "rich as cream." Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Golden Snapdragon. A new type of Gladiolus. Pale cream, and the two inner top petals have a zone of yellow which is very much ruffled. The central lower petal is yellow. It's hard to describe the unusual form; it must be seen to be appreciated. The florets, of which several are open at one time, are well placed on straight, slender stems. Mighty interesting. Each, $1.00.

Golden Swallow. A beautiful pure, soft yellow variety and it has no throat markings of any kind. The ruffled blossoms are simply beautiful. Recommended. "Follow the swallow, that's all." Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Golden West. Rich nasturtium-red with a golden suffusion; lower petals tipped with yellow. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Governor Hanley. Tall, showy, rich cardinal-red, deeper in the throat. Probably the earliest red. One of those fellows that has a chip on his shoulder. A fine variety. Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.45 per doz.

Gregor Mendal. Here is a Glad of most unusual color. It is a sort of dull purple—the shade often seen in old Persian rugs. The color is hard to describe. This fine Glad must be seen to be appreciated. Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Grey Parrot. Clear blue-grey, edged and striped with clear salmon, deeper red markings in the throat. Surely this is one of the most unusual of the "smoky" types it has been our privilege to see. Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

Gypsy Butterfly. Large blossoms of deep red with large throat blotches of cream, which resembles large butterflies nestling in the hearts of the blossoms. Florets wide open and slightly frilled. Tall spikes. Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Halley. "Meteors startle the world for a moment, but fixed stars delight it forever." Halley's a fixed star. She's the standard for earliness. When a variety is spoken of as being as early as Halley, the last word in earliness has been spoken. Light salmon-pink; throat blotch, creamy striped with red. Although inexpensive, Halley is simply indispensable and should be in every garden. A prime favorite with the florists. "There's a reason." Each, 5c; 6 for 25c; 45c per doz.

Harbinger. Here is a newcomer of a color never before seen in Glads—deep burnt orange. Large blossoms, perfectly placed on the tall stems. A beauty. Each, $1.00; $9.00 per doz.

Helen Todd. Light rose-pink with deeper colored edge around the entire flower; deep scarlet center. Tall, strong spike. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.
Helen Wills. One of the finest white Glads in existence. The soft pale yellow shading on the lower petals just “sets it off” nicely. There are six to eight finely formed and perfectly placed blossoms open at one time on the tall, straight spike. Helen’s a darling and everybody just loves her.

Each, $2.50.

Helga. Tall spikes bearing many wide-open blossoms of salmon-rose, overlaid deeper rose. A fine, sturdy variety and very early. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Henry Ford. Bright, rich purple blossoms that face outward from the stem in a double row. Often eight pairs of blossoms open at one time. Each spike a bouquet in itself. Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.90 per doz.

Herada. The only one of its color in the whole “galaxy of Glads.” Large blooms of clear mauve; small throat blotch of deep magenta. A mighty fine flower of distinct color and great attractiveness.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

High Nye. When we purchased a stock of this variety, we bought it for the reason that it was an extra tall one (it frequently grows six feet high), but since seeing it bloom, we are more than pleased, for it is as lovely as it is tall. Large well placed blooms of old rose with a peculiar frosted appearance and a yellow throat. Mighty fine.

Each, 30c; $2.75 per doz.

Hilda. Fine velvety deep scarlet. Tall, strong spikes. Looks like a pretty girl in a red velvet dress.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Hollyhock. The tallest white Glad. Crimson blotches on the lower petals, which are ruffled and all of them are about the same size and not as pointed as is usual with most Glads. These features tend to produce a blossom that is round in shape. The tall towering spike and the large round blossoms instantly gives one the impression of a white hollyhock. It surely is a “high pocket.” Stock very limited.

Each, 75c; 2 for $1.30; $7.25 per doz.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Ida Van. Most brilliant deep salmon-red or flaming orange-pink. Rich and striking. An old-timer that is still holding her own with most of the big ones.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Illuminator. A flaming torch to guide the weary pilgrim on his way. Many large, wide-open flowers of brilliant carmine-red are borne on tall, stately spikes. Will stand up and not only smile, but laugh right out loud, no matter how hot the day.

Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Immensity. Large blossoms of bright salmon. Many open at one time. Tall, strong spikes. It’s a beauty.

Each, 30c; $2.90 per doz.

Improved Tiplady. Just like its mother, Alice Tiplady, except that it is bigger, taller, better in every way. It’s a Salbach origination. No more need be said.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Nothing that ever came out of a bag, equals in fertilizing value what comes out of a barn.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Jack London. Light salmon with brilliant orange flame stripes; golden yellow throat. Wouldn’t say that Jack is pretty (we reserve that adjective for the ladies), but he surely is handsome.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Jacoba Van Beyeren. A new one from the land of dykes and windmills. Large flowers of pure violet on tall, erect stems; well arranged on the spike and many open at one time. Looks good in spite of its name. We call it “Jake” for short.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Jenny Lind. If the “Swedish Nightingale” sang as sweetly as her namesake blooms, no wonder she was universally loved. The blossoms are pure apricot pink; throat pale yellow, the two colors blending to perfection. Many blooms open at one time. One of the most exquisitely beautiful of Gladioli and recommended without reserve.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Joe Coleman. If you were as well acquainted with the original Joe Coleman as we are, you’d appreciate his namesake. Just such an upstanding “hale fellow well met” as Joe. A beautifully ruffled flower of rich red. Strong, vigorous and mighty fine.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

John T. Pirie. There is no Glad in the world colored like this one. The good sized blossoms are a sort of mahogany-brown with dark brown, yellow bordered blotches in the throat. It’s pretty, too, though you wouldn’t think so from the description.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Juno. Bright, clean, glistening orange with a darker spot on the lower petal. Several good sized blooms open at one time and well placed on the straight stem. A Joe Coleman origination; a nice Glad.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Kasson. Large, ruffled blossoms of lavender-pink, deeper in color in the throat. A mighty pretty Glad.

Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

Killdeer. Silvery white, creamy throat with small violet stripe. Large blossoms on tall spikes. Very pretty.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

King Smoke. Intense, rich smoky blue flaked on a rose-pink ground. A large and showy ruffled variety and one not seen on many growers’ lists because of its rarity.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Kirchhoff’s Violet. Tall spikes of perfectly placed blossoms of pure violet. The largest and best Glad in this color. Heartily recommended.

Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00; $3.45 per doz.

Kunderd’s Yellow Wonder. Fine, large blooms of deep butter yellow well placed on good, strong stems and as many as eight open at one time. The florets are absolutely unmarked; it is one fine yellow Glad.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Lacinatus. This is the forerunner of a new type in Gladioli and sold for $1000 a bulb in 1924. The edges of the petals are beautifully waved and notched. The handsome rose-pink blossoms are borne on slender, graceful spikes of good height. One large bulb will often produce several spikes of bloom.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Kunderdi Glory. The maternal ancestor of all ruffled Gladioli. Large, ruffled blossoms of creamy apricot, tinted light pink. Whenever you see a ruffled Glad you may be sure that it can trace its ancestry back to Glory.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Kunderd’s Yellow Wonder. Fine, large blooms of deep butter yellow well placed on good, strong stems and as many as eight open at one time. The florets are absolutely unmarked; it is one fine yellow Glad.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Larkin Blue. Another variety originated by John Umpleby. It’s creamy white faintly tinted with pale yellow in the throat. Several of the dainty little blooms open at one time and placed one above the other like little white owls perched upon a branch. The stems are tall and straight and it surely is a fine little Glad and different from the “common herd.”

Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Larkin Blue. Another variety originated by John Umpleby. A peculiar Glad of violet-blue with prominent deep violet throat blotches, which are bordered or tipped with yellow. It gives one the impression of a pansy. Several well placed, good sized blooms open at one time.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.
La Vange. Large, white, ruffled blossoms with a rosy cerise throat. Bright and cheerful. A fine variety not seen in many gardens.
   Each, 30c; 3 for 75c; $2.90 per doz.

Lavender Bride. Just imagine a lavender Glad with a smoky edge. Several immense, ruffled, well placed blooms open at one time. Tall, straight spike. It’s a beauty. Each, 75c.

Lavender Frills. Just what its name implies. Lavender, shading to fawn on the lower petals. Good color; extra long spike. Fine.
   Each, 40c; 3 for $1.00; $3.75 per doz.

Le Marchal Foch. Large blossoms of bright pink, well placed on a good spike; very popular.
   Each, 5c; 45c per doz.

Lena Graetz. Tall spikes; pure white blossoms; many open at one time; one of the best inexpensive white varieties.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Lillian. Tall spikes of pale pink ruffled blooms which are darker in the throat. A fine variety
   Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

Lillian Webb. Strawberry-pink with velvety light maroon center. The flowers are lily-shaped and face upwards.
   Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

L’Immaculee. Long spike of pure white Gladioli. A fine variety and a florist’s favorite.
   Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Linton. Upper petals salmon-rose; lower petals yellow. Tall and well ruffled.
   Each, 5c; 45c per doz.

   Each, 10c; 90c per doz.

Longfellow. Tall spikes with several blossoms open at one time. Supposed to be La France-pink (whatever that is), but it is the color of a wild rose newly blown. It stands in the front rank with all the best pink Glads in the world and there are some mighty pretty pink Glads. You’ll like Longfellow.
   Each, 30c; $3.00 per doz.

Los Angeles. Immense spikes bearing huge blossoms of shrimp-pink with a throat of orange tinged with carmine. A Pacific Coast sensation. The “cut and come again” Glad.
    Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Louise. Now here’s a real beauty. Fine bright blush lavender with a wine colored blotch on lower petals. A sturdy grower with magnificent wide-open flowers.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Louis Hemon. We have been fortunate enough to secure a limited number of bulbs of the remarkable French Gladiolus, Louis Hemon, (Pronounced Looey Hayman). Of all the bizarre, unusual, peculiar, striking Glads, “Louis” heads the list. The color is yellow and orange-red with such a peculiar arrangement of color that you will agree with the man who saw the giraffe at the circus and said, “There ain’t no such animal.” It’s not a symphony in color, but a combined circus band, jazz orchestra, horse fiddle, sky rocket, pin wheel and fire cracker combination. Take our word for it, Louis has “IT.” Stock quite limited. Not more than 3 bulbs to a customer.
   Each, 60c; 3 for $1.70.

Lullaby. This is surely one of the prettiest Glads Kunderd has originated. Clear, bright yellow with the edges of the petals tinted brilliant orange. Straight, graceful stems; several well placed florets open at one time. It should have been named Oriole or Goldfinch or some other bright plumaged bird. Has a sort of clean appearance and reminds one of a little chap on his way to Sunday School with his face shining and his hair all “slick.”
   Each, 75c; $7.50 per doz.

Mabel Irving. The immense, clear pink, ruffled blossoms are well placed on tall, straight stems. Several open at one time. Beautiful.
   Each, $1.50.

Madison Cooper. A fine upstanding variety of deep dark red of a peculiarly pleasing shade. A good one.
   Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

President Menocal. (See page 23).

Plan your work and work your plan every day of every week.
Magic. Tall spikes of lavender-blue blossoms marked with rich purple throat blotches. Pretty.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Maiden’s Blush. Exquisite flowers of delicate pink shading lighter in throat. Could not be more daintily colored if painted with a fairy’s brush. The spikes are tall and carry their beautiful burden of blossoms gracefully. Frequently a bulb will present you with several spikes. Very early and a choice florist’s flower.
Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Mantorville. Beautiful ruffled yellow splashed with pink. A splendid variety not seen on many lists and which should be better known.
Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.75 per doz.

Marble Barred. Good sized blossoms of white, beautifully striped, stippled and speckled with pink. The spikes are very tall and the flowers well placed. A novelty and seldom seen on any dealer’s list.
Each, 30c; $2.75 per doz.

Margaret Glendinning. A daughter of Rose Ash and even more beautiful than her mother, which she resembles. Like most girls of the present day, she’s a little ahead of her mother, blooming about a week earlier. The blossoms contain more rose-pink than the parent. Stately and exceedingly beautiful.
Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Marion Koch. One of the most beautiful Glads in existence. Soft, tender pink, shading to the creamy yellow throat; the two colors blend so perfectly that it is impossible to tell where the pink ends and the cream begins. One of the new needle-point type. Many perfectly formed and perfectly placed florets open at one time. Truly a wonderful Glad. You’ll adore it.
Each, 75c.

Mary O’Mine has been proved to be the largest white Gladiolus in existence and stands shoulder to shoulder with the giant Gladioli of all colors. Unlike many white Glads, MARY O’MINE is as strong and as sturdy as a prim hybrid, and almost as fast a propagator. No doubt this variety will take first place among white varieties both as a commercial and as an exhibition variety, for Gersdorff rates MARY O’MINE at 90 exhibition and 90.2 commercial. It is hard to visualize an immense spike of pure white Gladiolus blossoms with five or six open at one time and the bottom floret measuring eight inches across, but eight-inch blossoms are not uncommon with MARY O’MINE. If you want the biggest, best, whitest, white Glad, you’ll never have it until you grow MARY O’MINE.
Each, $3.00; $25.00 per doz.
Marjorie Smith. Massive vermilion flowers that have an unusual velvety appearance; almost self colored. Strong grower. A real beauty.

Each, 50c; $4.75 per doz.

Marshal Foch. Tall spikes bearing large, ruffled flowers of warm salmon-pink, the salmon tint being more pronounced toward the edge of the petals. Has a sort of dignity about him that is bound to appeal to you. Very fine.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.80 per doz.

Martha Washington. Large, light red flowers with throat blotches that are almost black. Looks for all the world like a Martha Washington geranium. A beauty.

Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Mary Fennell. Deep lilac, shading paler; soft primrose-yellow throat. Distinct, dainty and altogether lovely.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Mary Pickford. An extraordinary flower of delicate creamy white with a throat of softest sulphur yellow. Even the stem and calyx are white. Certainly a little beauty and you'll love her.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Mary Stearns Burke. Here is a distinct addition to any garden. The flowers are canary-yellow overlaid with apricot; deep canary center. The spike is tall with the flowers symmetrically arranged. Exceptionally good.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Maurice Fuld. Enormous blossoms of rich rose-pink with a deep rose blotch on a pure white throat. Blossoms often six inches in diameter and of excellent substance. A truly wonderful variety and one we can heartily recommend.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Midnight Sun. Tall, slender spikes of bright yellow blossoms with distinct red lines in the throat. Pretty.

Each, 5c; 50c per doz.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Miss Billie. Exquisite solid deep rose with sharply-pointed petals. Large flowers, beautiful color and as fine as silk.

Each, 50c.

Miss T. Rose. Large blossoms well placed on extra tall spikes. Colored creamy yellow and pink like a delicate Tea rose. Fine.

Each, 15c; $1.40 per doz.

Mission Bells. Here is one of the loveliest and most distinct Glads seen for "many a moon." Six or seven large, bell-shaped blossoms of rich orange-pink are open at one time and are borne on tall, slender, wiry stems and placed in such a manner as to suggest a chime of bells. Sort of a Chinese pagoda effect. Perfectly lovely.

Each, $1.09; $9.00 per doz.

Mona Lisa. Magnificent ruffled flowers of softest rose-pink, with a lavender tint. Strong plant with several blossoms open at one time. A splendid variety well worth having.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Monon. Dark rose-pink, flaked darker; upper throat lighter, lower throat darker. Tall, straight spike with several flowers open at one time. One of the real good ones and mighty scarce, too.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Monte Carlo. Bright pinkish salmon with a yellow throat. Beautiful soft coloration. It just seems that it should taste as good as it looks. 8 to 10 good sized, ruffled blossoms open at one time. Compactly placed though not too crowded. A perfect beauty. Each, $3.00.

“Another thing in whose name a great many crimes are committed is tree surgery.”
Mottled Beauty. Large, intensely ruffled blossoms of light pink, heavily flaked and mottled with carmine. A strikingly beautiful Glad, and when once seen is never forgotten.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Mr. Mark. A blue Glad that is hard to beat. The flowers are light blue with a darker blotch in the throat. Growth is more robust than most blue varieties, many of which are “weak brothers.”

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Mr. W. H. Phipps. Soft pink tinged with light rosy salmon; lower petals faintly striped and speckled with ruby. Many enormous flowers open at one time on the tall, stately spike. A masterpiece.

Each, 30c; $2.90 per doz.

Mrs. A. C. Beal. White, faintly blushed with pink; pale yellow throat blotches with prominent scarlet feathers. Large blossoms, several of them open at one time on tall, strong spikes. A good one.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Mrs. Annie Krettner. Mr. Umpleby must have thought a lot of this Glad, for he named it for his sister. It is of the same type as Viola Bird and Lady White. Creamy white, flushed with pink with very prominent rose throat blotches. Several of the nice little well placed blooms open at one time on the tall, slender stem. A fine miniature.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Mrs. Cothran. A peculiar combination of red and grey with a sort of iridescence that is hard to describe. Looks as though the lady was wearing a dress of changeable silk. Mighty pretty.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Mrs. F. C. Peters. Fine rosy lilac blossoms with softest crimson blotch; slightly ruffled and many open at one time; tall, vigorous and mighty fine.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Mrs. Francis King. Long spike of immense flowers of light scarlet or flame-red, shaded salmon. One of the older varieties, but it will be a long time before it is supplanted in popularity by any other Gladiolus.

Each, 5c; 6 for 25c; 45c per doz.

Mrs. Frank Pendleton, Jr. Tall, majestic spikes of rose-pink blossoms bearing a giant blotch of richest velvety carmine on the lower petals. One of the good “old timers.”

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Mrs. G. W. Moulton. Here is another tall, stately lady. The immense violet-red flowers are proudly borne aloft on tall, strong spikes. One of the best in its color and sure to give satisfaction.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Mrs. H. E. Bothin. Flesh-pink, tinted salmon; flame-scarlet center; heavily ruffled. A mighty pleasing color combination. Flowers are large and correctly spaced on the stem. A beauty.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.45 per doz.

Mrs. Leon Douglas. Enormous rose colored blossoms striped with scarlet. Extra long spikes. This is probably one of the largest Glads in existence. Exceedingly beautiful.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Mrs. M. Singer. Pinkish lavender orchid with the most peculiar and attractive throat blotches of golden brown, over which there is a feather of cerise. Large blossoms, well placed on tall spikes. Fine. Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Mrs. P. W. Sisson. Ah! Here’s a perfect beauty. Immense ruffled blossoms of the softest pink, delicately shading to a creamy white throat. The blooms are perfectly placed on the tall willowy spike. Without doubt, one of the most beautiful pink Glads in existence.

Each, 75c; $7.50 per doz.

Mrs. Rudolph Spreckles. Light shrimp-pink with bright rose stripes; lower petals are shaded with apricot and have a large ruby spot. Many blossoms open at one time. Fine variety; “all dressed up like a Christmas tree.”

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.
Mystic. Bright rose-pink, flaked deeper. Large, prominent pure white blotches on the lower petals. Large flower; tall spike; attractive color. Certainly a beauty. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Nancy Hanks. Large blossoms of richest apricot perfectly placed on good, strong stems. Several blossoms open at one time. It surely is a pretty Glad and is especially good as a cut flower. Each, 35c; $3.50 per doz.

Neoga. Large, dark garnet-red blossoms with darker throat. Sturdy spikes. A good, dependable variety. Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Netherlands. Beautiful salmon-rose with ruby feathering on lower petals. An uncommon variety not seen in many gardens. Early and fine. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Niagara. Pleasing shade of creamy yellow, frequently flaked and splashed with bright pink. Large flowers on good, strong spikes. One of the “Old Guard,” but still as popular as it is beautiful. Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Nora. Beautiful light lavender-blue with a darker spot on the lower petals. One of the most pleasing of the “blues.” Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Smiles are like rubber balls. Throw them from you and they will bounce back. Frowns ditto.
Ohio State. A brand new Austin origination. Great big, beautiful blossoms of the most exquisite shade of brilliant rose-pink; large blotches of cream on the lower petals. As many as eight widely spread, perfectly placed florets open at one time on the tall, graceful stem. A wonderful flower named for a wonderful state by a wonderful lady—Mrs. Austin. No more need be said. Each, $5.00.

Old Glory. Fine shade of dark red with fine hair lines of white over the entire surface of the large blossoms. The petals are bordered with a fine pin stripe of white. A fancy variety in a class by itself. There is no other like it.

Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00; $3.25 per doz.

Orange Brilliant. One of the Primulinus hybrids from Holland. If the word “cute” is ever excusable, it may be applied to this one. The tall spikes are filled with medium sized blossoms of the most brilliant orange imaginable. It is among the first to bloom in the garden. Has good keeping qualities when cut and a vase or basket of it is surely an “eye-opener.” Each, 5c; 50c per doz.

Peach Rose. Well named. A beautiful flower of deep rose-pink with a darker marking in the throat. Wondrously handsome.

Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00; $3.40 per doz.
Pearl of Dawn. Bright rose-pink blossoms with the color deepening toward the edges. Center lighter with large red throat markings. A beauty.

Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Pelletier D'Oisy. Named for the famous French war ace, but if there ever was a Glad that should have been named Pat or Mike, this is the one, for it has the colors of "Old Ireland." The color is most unusual—yellowish green with orange-red tips. The throat is sprinkled with maroon. It's no use to try to describe it or to try to pronounce its name, it "aint nothin' else" but the green Glad. Good sized blooms well placed on long stems.

Each, $1.50.

Pennant. This is the American variety of the same name as the one from Australia and was introduced by Gersdorff. The big blossoms are bright rose with immense throat blotches of cream. 5 to 7 well arranged blossoms open at one time. Strikingly brilliant and beautiful.

Each, $1.00; $10.00 per doz.

Pfitzer's Triumph. A masterpiece. Immense, six-inch blooms of orange-red with a velvety red blotch in the center. The petals reflex so that the gigantic flowers are almost flat. The spike is all one could desire. There is no doubt that this is the finest Glad ever originated in Germany. One you will be proud to show your neighbors. Supply very limited.

Each, $2.00.

Pink Beauty. About the earliest Gladiolus to bloom. The blossoms are rose-pink with fine dark red blotches. Many flowers open at one time. While the blossoms are not as large as some, still they are very welcome, for no other variety comes into bloom as early.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Pink Lady. Charming clear salmon-rose; large blossoms arranged on tall, straight spikes. Sort of reminds one of Giant Nymph, though of a very different color. Extra good cut flower, as it has fine keeping qualities.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Pink Lily. One of the finest pink Gladioli. The large, intensely ruffled flowers are deep rose-pink. The exact shade is so hard to describe that this variety must be seen to be fully appreciated. The buds are ruffled and remind one of rose buds. Recommended without reserve.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Pink Perfection. An exquisitely lovely flower of La France-pink; throat paler with a peculiar frosted appearance. Its soft coloring, graceful, willowy stems, many flowers open at one time, combine to make it "a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Pink Wonder. Wondrously beautiful. The color is light pink with yellow shading at the base of lower petals, overlaid with a feathering of rose. Tall spikes with four or five massive, glistening blossoms open at one time. Recommended without reserve.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 80c per doz.

Pola Negri. Great ruffled blossoms of pale apricot, tinted and flecked at the edges with a deeper tint. Lower petals pale yellow. A pretty variety and popular with those who like the more delicate shades.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Pollyanna. A mighty pretty Glad of rich golden yellow without throat markings. The blooms are perfectly placed and there are several of them open at one time; they are ruffled, too. You'll be glad if Pollyanna comes to your garden.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

President Menocal. One of the most intensely ruffled of Gladioli. Bright yellow with a pink border; large, red blotches on the lower petals. Tall spikes. Fine.

Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.25 per doz.

Pride of Lancaster. Bright orange-salmon with prominent red-orange blotches in the throat. Several large, ruffled, well placed blooms open at one time. A fine variety. Each, 10c; 90c per doz.

"Common sense is like baled vittles; it is good right from the pot and it is good next day warmed up."

—Josh Billings.
Pride of Wanakah. A great big, handsome fellow of rich lavender-rose, shading to a deeper rose in the throat. Tall spike, large flowers, strikingly showy. A variety that will hold its own among the very best. Recommended.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Prim Beauty. A Dracoccephalus hybrid by Christy. Large blossoms of cream, heavily lined and pin striped with salmon, giving a color effect of rich salmon-buff. Striking and pretty.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Prim Picotee. Gladiolus Bill surely had a hearty laugh when he placed this variety on the market. He should have named it Harlequin. Imagine a bright red blossom shaped like a lily with a distinct yellow edge to each petal and that's Prim Picotee. Large blossoms. Distinct and unusual? I'll say it is.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.75 per doz.

Primrose Beauty. A mighty pretty yellow Glad that should be better known. One of those strong, husky boys that never has to take “time out.” Tall, strong spikes of large, primrose-yellow flowers. Early and very good.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Primulinus Hybrids. These dainty little fellows are obtained by crossing the wild Primulinus species with the larger flowering type of Gladioli; and come in a variety of colors, such as various shades of yellow, salmon, red, pink, saffron, orange and various combinations of the above. As cut flowers, they stand supreme, and the price is so reasonable that anyone who has room for them can well afford to plant a few dozen for cut flowers alone. The stems are willowy and graceful and they are easily arranged in vases or baskets. Usually one bulb will furnish more than one spike of blossoms.

Per doz., 30c; $2.00 per 100.

Primunella. Large, ruffled blossoms of orange saffron. Fine and beautiful.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 75c per doz.

Princely. Very light pink—almost white. Large, wide open flowers, often 5 inches in diameter and several open at one time, well placed on tall, graceful spikes. This magnificent variety is certainly well named for no adjective short of Princely would describe it.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Principeps. Large, bright red blossoms with prominent creamy throat blotches. An old timer but still popular.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Princess of Orange. Formerly known as K’s Orange. Bright vermilion with white stripes on the lower petals. This is another variety that should be better known.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Principine. Brilliant carmine-red with large white throat blotches. The most intensely brilliant Glad in the garden. Can be seen “a mile away.” Striking when planted en masse.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Purple Butterfly. It don’t take much imagination to picture 6 to 8 purple butterflies, perched one above the other on the spike when you see this variety. It’s a beauty and no mistake.

Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Purple Glory. Deepest velvety maroon-red with almost black blotches. Words fail to describe its majestic beauty. A perfect giant among Gladioli. Must be seen to be appreciated. Recommended.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Pythia. Magnificent, stately spikes of gigantic red blossoms. Several open at one time. Showy in the extreme. The most popular red Glad and deservedly so. A bouquet of Pythia would stop a circus parade.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Quinte Sunset. Excellent clear lavender-blue, light throat lines; perfectly formed. 16 to 20 blossoms to the spike. Fine.

Each, $1.50.
Red Butterfly. Large, intensely ruffled blossoms of bright rose-red, flecked with a deeper shade of red. Large, dark red throat blotches. A mighty fine new red Glad.
Each, 50c; $5.00 per doz.

Red Canna. Probably the tallest Glad. Has been grown nearly six feet tall. Brilliant red self color. A fine variety.
Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.25 per doz.

Red Copper. Large flowers of deep rosy salmon, heavily flaked blue. A very unusual combination of colors and greatly admired.
Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Red Glory. Here is a real beauty. It is a sport of Purple Glory which it resembles in everything but the color, which is rich fiery red. It is a mighty rare Glad and our stock is very limited. If you want it, you'd better order early.
Each, $2.00.

Regulus. Tall spikes bearing large flowers of orange salmon with delicate yellow throats. Fine.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Remembrance. Deep salmon-pink blossoms. Prominent throat blotches. Tall spikes with many large, ruffled flowers open at one time.
Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Rev. Ewbank. Beautiful porcelain blue blossoms on good, strong spikes. As dainty and pretty as a Delft tile.
Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.40 per doz.

Rose Ash. One of the most popular flowers in our garden. The color is an exquisite old rose, blended with ashes of roses; one of the loveliest combinations of colors; finely ruffled; tall, straight spikes. A really magnetic flower that at once attracts the eye.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Rosemary (That's for remembrance). The dearest, sweetest Glad ever grown. White, thickly marked with fine parallel hairlines and stipplings of lavender-rose. The markings are carried clear through the petals, so the back of the blossom looks the same as the front. Good sized blooms carried on tall, gracefully erect stems. Several open at one time. Easily arranged in vase or basket, for it is not necessary to have the spikes facing outward, as the backs of the blossoms are as handsome as their faces. There never was a Glad like Rosemary, and you'll regret it if she is not smiling at you in your garden this Summer.
Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

"The hard thing about saving a dollar is you must save it every day to have it."
Ruffolace. As white as snow and not only nicely ruffled, but it is finely laciniated or fringed. The flowers average four inches or more in diameter and are borne on tall, stout stems. Stock very limited. Each, 50c.

Salbach’s Prim. Peach-red, shading to strawberry-pink with yellow tips on the two lower petals. The long, slender spikes carry many large, beautifully ruffled blooms open at one time. Adds a cheerful note to the garden chorus. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Salmon Beauty. Tall, graceful spikes bearing large, showy salmon flowers; throat of pure gold. Mighty pretty and mighty good. Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.
Saraband. Very large wide open blossom of rich velvety wine color with a straw colored blotch. Tall spike, perfect placement and excellent substance. Unusual and as rich as a Navajo blanket.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Scarlano. Imagine a fine spike of bright orange-red, finely ruffled flowers and you have a mental conception of Scarlano. He surely has a sunny disposition and we know he is an optimist.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Scarlet Glory. Ruffled blossoms of a very rich and distinct shade of red. A beauty.

Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Scarlet Princeps. Extra strong spikes of massive scarlet blossoms; six or more open at one time. A flaming torch that attracts attention from a distance. Gorgeous and extra fine.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 95c per doz.

Scarlet Wonder. Large, glowing, brilliant, velvety, pure scarlet flowers. Several open at one time and perfectly placed on tall, strong stems. It surely is a red hot number and the air is ten degrees hotter in its immediate vicinity.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Scarsdale. Lavender-pink, shading to old rose. Large and well opened blossoms. An oddly handsome flower.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Schwaben. Large spikes of immense blossoms of waxy yellow; small brownish red spot in the throat. An old-time favorite and still popular.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Sedan. A fine ruffled Primulinus hybrid. Rich yellow with crimson lines on lower petals.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Seneca. Well placed blossoms of delicate yellow faintly tinted with pink.

Each, 5c; 50c per doz.

Sensation. Bright red with a darker throat. A broad band of yellow on each petal. The flowers are lily-shaped and face upward. Unusual, brilliant and showy.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Sentinel. Extra tall, strong plant, towering above his brothers like the sentry that he is. The handsome flowers are rose-pink with white penciled throat. You can almost hear him shout, “All’s well.”

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Sheila. A beauty. The immense salmon flowers are held aloft on stately stems. You need “a bit o’ blarney” in your garden.

Each, 10c; 90c per doz.

Sidney Plummer. Large, well placed, ruffled blossoms of beautiful soft yellow, suffused delicate pink. Many open at one time. Choice.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Sirius. This fine Glad is not one of the tall, languorous show girls, but is a member of the pony ballet. There is no finer variety for the front of the Gladiolus bed than Sirius. The flowers of dark salmon with brighter throat are of good size, but the stems are not so tall as some others, eminently fitting her for the front row of the ballet.

Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Smiles. Large, well ruffled blossoms of white with the edges of the petals handsomely tinted with rose-pink. Certainly a beautiful variety and mighty well named.

Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00; $3.25 per doz.

Snapdragon. Here is the first of an entirely new type of Gladiolus. It looks just like its name. Several small blossoms of red with a yellow throat open at one time on the slender, straight stem. It’s as dainty as can be and it is small enough to use in a bud vase.

Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

“There is no disgrace in being ‘licked’, but it is a disgrace to stay ‘licked’.”
Snow Boy. He's so tall, he should have been named "North Pole." White, sometimes marked with maroon blotch. Many large flowers of finest form open at one time. Talk about a stately Glad, here's one that from a short distance resembles a hollyhock. Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.45 per doz.

Souvenir. Fine golden yellow blossoms, well placed on tall, slender stems. A mighty nice glad and best of all, it's a regular early bird; the first yellow to bloom in the early Summer. Each, 10c; 90c per doz.

Starbright. A Glad so distinctly and decidedly different as to appear unreal. Beautiful daffodil yellow blossoms with a broad and distinct band or stripe of rose through the center of each one of the six petals. No Glad on earth has this distinct marking. It's a "really, truly" star and it fairly twinkles at you. Good sized blooms well placed on tall, straight stems; several open at one time; wonderful substance, both as a cut flower or in the garden; strong, vigorous growth and foliage—in fact, every good quality desired in a Glad. Add to this its unusual beauty and strikingly different markings and it will readily be seen why "meteors may startling the world for a moment" but Starbright will "delight it forever." Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Star of the Sea. Peach-red, shading to a very light throat. On the lower petal there is a very prominent blotch of brownish scarlet, sprinkled with gold dust. Immense, wide open, flaring, star-shaped blossoms compactly placed, though not crowded. Tall, slender, graceful spikes with several florets open at one time. Surely one of the handsomest Glads in existence today. Everybody loves Star of the Sea. Each, $5.00.

Sulphur Glow. Several large, widely expanded, intensely ruffled flowers of soft yellow open at one time. Sturdy and good. Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Summer. Mauve-lilac with a lighter throat. Wide open flowers on good spikes. Rich coloring and fine form. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Summer Beauty. Tall spikes of beautiful pink blossoms. Many open at one time. Each spike is a bouquet in itself. Fine. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Sunkist Fairy. Pale apricot-orange, lighter on lower petals; brilliant flame-orange throat markings. Several well placed florets open at one time. Tall, straight stems. A mighty pretty Glad. Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

Sunnymede. Brilliant orange-yellow with a bright red blotch. A distinct and unusual Glad and a fine one. Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Sunset Glow. Beautiful Primulinus hybrid of orange-scarlet. Very brilliant and very early. Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Sunshine. A peculiarly cheerful shade of orange-red with a beautiful yellow throat. Large blossoms on good spikes. About as lively and cheerful as any Glad we know. Has a smile that won't wear off. Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Superba. Surely this fine Glad is well named. It's nothing else but superb. Immense blooms of rosy red with a cardinal feather in the throat. The florets are well placed and the spikes are tall. That's about all one could ask of a Glad. Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Sweet Rose. Purest rose with a deeper colored feather in the throat. Well formed blooms, perfectly placed on fine stems. Mighty fine. Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Sweet Lavender. A lovely combination of light lavender-pink blending into creamy yellow, with a prominent magenta blotch. Beautiful and imposing. Extra early and extra good. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Sword of Mahomet. A peculiar red, blue and "smoky" combination of color. Reminds one of a Persian rug. Extra tall spikes bearing 18 to 20 florets; generous with side spikes, too; nearly always two and sometimes three of them. If you like "smoky" Glads, you'll like this one. Each, $1.00.

Sydonia. Large, rich blossoms of purplish violet. Pointed petals. Tall and stately. A mighty good dependable dark colored variety. Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.
Taurus. A Prim hybrid of bright purple violet. A mighty rare color for this type of Glad. The graceful, slender stems carry 5 to 7 blossoms open at one time.

Each, 20c; $1.90 per doz.

Theda. Large, shrimp-pink blossoms with soft yellow throats. Tall stems; extra early. Every good quality endears her to us.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

The Emir. Can you imagine a Glad that is apricot color with a smoky edge and a yellow throat? Well, that is The Emir. It is well named, for the color is surely oriental. Tall, slender spikes with several florets open at one time. A beauty.

Each, $2.00.

The Flirt. A peculiarly colored one—sort of a red with a purplish undertone, the color reminds one of Purple Glory. A “sassy” Glad and one that is popular with those who like the deeper colors.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

The Orchid. A distinctly new type of Gladiolus. The petals are very long and slender; they are ruffled, frilled and laciniated and the color is in keeping with the form. Pale lavender becoming much deeper in color at the edges and tips of the petals. Certainly a dainty and beautiful Glad.

Each, $1.00; $9.00 per doz.

The Pearl. Delicate light pink with a creamy throat; several flowers open at one time; stems slender and graceful; early and a fine cut flower. Just as dainty as can be.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

The Pelican. Certainly an “odd genius.” Bill says, “The upper central petal resembles a pelican’s pouch inverted. The other two upper petals stand well apart while the three lower petals are small.” Deep pink over a lighter pink. Two lower petals yellow. Striking.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Tupelo. Another beautiful Primulinus hybrid. The large flowers are deep yellow with lines of pink in the throat. Fine.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Twin Fires. Good sized blossoms of pure pink; the flowers have a yellow blotch on the lower petals on which are two scarlet spots which look for all the world like two tiny candles aflame. It surely is a pretty Glad and one that should grace every garden.

Each, 35c; $3.25 per doz.

Tycko Zang. A masterpiece. Immense blossoms of clear salmon-pink with a contrasting throat of white. Several well placed blossoms open at one time on the tall, straight spike. Tycko adds distinction to any Gladiolus collection and you’ll love her the minute you see her.

Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Tyrian Beauty. Here is a prince clad in “purple and fine linen.” The truly majestic spikes carry their wealth of flowers aloft like a battle flag. Many brilliant American Beauty rose colored blossoms open at one time.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Unusual. A peculiar shade of red with the lower petals somewhat darker. Sometimes shows a veining of white. Rightly named.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

“Every man goes down to death bearing in clutched hands only that which he has given away.”
Vanity. One of the tallest Glads in existence and as pretty as it is tall. Soft pink flushed over a cream ground. Large, wide open blossoms.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Vernon. Deep salmon-rose with a greyish overlay. Throat white with a red border. Large and very showy.
   Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Vesta Tilley. An importation from Holland and a beauty. Large blossoms of softest pink with a violet blotch in the throat. The flowers have excellent substance and hold up well either in the garden or when used as cut flowers. Recommended.
   Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Villa. The blossoms are very dark red, flaked almost black. The lower petals are almost black to the edge. Splendid rich coloring.
   Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.90 per doz.

Viola Bird. This surely is the daintiest, sweetest little Glad that has been seen in years. The spikes are tall and the dainty little blossoms of violet are placed along the stems like demure little humming birds. It’s a perfect darling.
   Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

Violet Beauty. Large, cerise-violet blossoms with big red throat blotches. Tall spikes and good in every way. The demand frequently exceeds the supply of this stunning variety.
   Each, 20c; 3 for 50c; $1.95 per doz.

Violet Plume. Clear mauve-violet, deeper in the throat, cream colored lip; grows very tall with good sized florets well placed on straight, graceful stems. Mighty pretty.
   Each, 75c; $7.25 per doz.

   Each, 25c; 3 for 65c; $2.25 per doz.

War. Erect, tall, stately spikes of large, blood-red blossoms. One of the late bloomers. He’s so well named that you almost expect him to thrust a spear at you as you pass. Very popular.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

   Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

White Pearl. Tall, slender spikes with several blossoms open at one time. The color is pure, glistening white with a pleasingly contrasting bright yellow throat. Not a common variety, but chaste and beautiful.
   Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

White Wonder. Mammoth pure white blossoms without markings of any kind. Of robust growth; many blossoms open at one time. Fine.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 80c per doz.

Wilbrinck. A pink sport of Halley, which it resembles in every way except color. One of the “early birds” that is smiling at you at the first of the season.
   Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

Willis E. Fryer. Massive blossoms of deep reddish violet, yellow throat. Tall and fine.
   Each, 30c.

Willy Wigman. Creamy white, flushed soft pink; crimson blotch on the lower petals. Looks as though he had been caught in the pantry with jelly on his chin. Graceful spikes and mighty pretty.
   Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; 90c per doz.

Wine King. Tall spikes of rich, deep, wine colored flowers. Several flowers open at one time. Out of a job since the Volstead Act, but a real good dark variety just the same.
   Each, 10c; 4 for 25c; 70c per doz.

   Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.

Umpleby’s “Three Graces”

A quiet, unassuming gentleman was John Umpleby of Derby, N. Y., who has passed to the Eternal Flower Gardens, but he left a monument in the form of the three miniature Glads—Viola Bird, Lady White and Mrs. Annie Krettner. (See descriptions in the catalog).

We have purchased the stock of these “three graces” and are offering one bulb of each (catalog value $1.60), for $1.25 and we know that you will like them. The stock of one of this set is rather limited, so we must restrict the sale. One set only to any one customer. Order early.
Australian Gladioli

In the foregoing section of this catalog we have endeavored to present our patrons with the best and outstanding varieties of gladioli originated by the foremost growers, not only in our own country, but the better varieties originated in England, France, Germany and Holland.

In very recent years some very beautiful and fine varieties have been originated in far-off Australia and we are presenting in this catalog a small list of these varieties to our patrons for the first time. The matter of importing bulbs from a country where the seasons are just reversed to ours has been a problem confronting importers, as the Australian bulbs do not arrive in this country until July. The large gladiolus shows are held about Christmas time in Australia. These varieties have proved to be sturdy and good in our trial gardens and we recommend them to you.

Alymer. Pale yellow with a deep yellow throat. Prominent rosy violet feathers on each of the lower petals. Several large well placed blossoms open at one time on the tall spike. If it were a man, you would say it was “full-faced.” A good one.
Each, $1.50.

Atalanta. A bright cheerful rose colored glad with a creamy throat which is brightened by a feather of carmine. Good spikes; several blossoms open at one time. Good.
Each, 50c.

Averill. The large pinkish salmon blossoms are flecked with a darker shade. Large Sulphur-yellow throat markings add to the charm of this unusually handsome flower. The spikes are straight and tall. A beauty.
Each, $1.50.

Constance. Immense salmon-pink flowers with fleckings and mottings of rose. Conspicuous scarlet blotches on the lower petals. An outstanding variety and one destined to become very popular.
Each, $1.25.

Damask. Shrimp-pink with a rosy pink feather in the throat. Large blooms well placed on strong stems. Several open at one time. Mighty pretty.
Each, 50c.

Ensign. Large blossoms of rosy red, flecked and mottled with scarlet. Large white throat blotches. Tall spike. A beautiful and striking variety and one that appeals to almost everyone.
Each, $1.50.

Gertrude Errey. Here is surely a beauty. The blossoms are large and are beautifully colored. Soft shell-pink, mottled and flecked with a deeper color. The cream colored throat with rose lines blends to perfection with the main color and produces a combination that is too charming to describe.
Each, $1.00.

Herodian. Large showy blossoms of clear rose-pink mottled darker. The flowers are large and the spike is good. Like several of these Australian varieties, it is hard to do justice to them by a written description. This is a pretty “glad.” ‘Nuf Ced.
Each, $1.50.

King Pearl. Often there are from ten to twelve blossoms open at one time with King Pearl. They are pure white deepening to cream in the center with a sulphur blotch in the throat. Distinctive and fine.
Each, $1.50.

Lindenow. Pale cream, deepening to deep lemon in the throat. Tall spike, with many perfectly placed florets open at one time. We have had as many as twenty florets open or showing color at one time. Each spike is a bouquet in itself. Looks like it was carved from old ivory. Exquisitely beautiful. Recommended without reserve.
Each, $1.50.

“Consider the tea kettle, though up to its neck in hot water, it continues to sing.”
Lavinia. Ah! Here’s about the finest one in the lot. Large blossoms of deep rose-pink, mottled with rose. The throat is white with a yellow line in it. There is a white line through the center of every petal. The flowers are borne proudly on tall straight spikes. Seems almost unreal. Each, $1.50.

Mahdi. Tall spikes bearing large, well-opened blossoms of crimson-maroon, with a small yellow dash (like a little chin whisker) on the lower petal. The florets are well placed and several open at one time. A fine dark variety. Each, $1.50.

Melvin. Tall spikes of brilliant scarlet, flecked and tigered with dark red. Florets arranged in a double row. Looks like a tiger with the red light thrown upon him. No doubt, a real “he-glad.” Each, $1.50.

Nimrod. Large blossoms of real dark crimson, flecked at the edges with a color so dark as to appear almost black. He surely is dark and a beauty, too. Each, $1.50.

Olivar. Rich, deep violet, lighter in the upper throat and with a deep red purple blotch on each of the three lower petals. Royally colored and the blossoms are held as proudly erect as a kingly banner. Recommended. Each, $1.50.

Titan. Immense, wide open blossoms of salmon-pink, flecked with a darker shade, and marked on the lower petal with a large tongue or blotch of purple. Tall, strong stem. Several well-placed blooms open at one time. The Master Artist must have searched his paint box from one end to the other to find just the right shade of pink to harmonize with just the proper shade of purple. Exquisitely beautiful. You’re bound to love it. Each, $1.25.

Victor. Tall spike with several large flaming blossoms open at one time. The gorgeous blooms are brilliant scarlet flecked with a deeper shade, and the three lower petals are marked with large creamy white blotches. Surely this is the finest white throated red gladiolus we have ever seen. Each, $1.50.

Special Australian Offer

One each of twelve varieties (our selection), of Australian Gladioli for $12.00. This is a marvelous collection and you'll like every one of them and we are sure they will like you; besides they are remarkably reasonable in price. A saving of at least $3.00, possibly more.

“We imagine that the man who does not look forward to anything pleasant, whether sensibly or not, is the unhappiest man in the world. The happiest man is he who, regardless of the pains and sorrows of the day, sees the future bright.”
MOST everyone who is interested enough in flowers to have a garden, is also a lover of wild flowers as well, and it is mighty interesting to trace the origin of our highly bred, pedigreed glads back to the wild forms from which they originated. There are many, many of the wild forms that have given certain characteristics to our cultivated gladiolus of today, but many of them are not hardy in our climate. We are able to offer at this time but five species that may be cultivated the same as our ordinary glads.

Gladiolus Dracocephalus. The Dragon head. The peculiarly shaped and hooded blossoms are striped red on green. You can see that this species is responsible for the fine lines and stripes seen in Rosemary, Old Glory, Freckles, Christy’s Prim Beauty, and Beatrice.

Each, 25c; $2.50 per doz.

Gladiolus Primulinus. This is the little wild yellow glad found growing at the base of Victoria Falls in Africa, where it is known as “Maid-of-the-Mist,” and is the mother of all the Primulinus hybrids. It has transmitted its widely separated florets, slender graceful stems, hooded blossoms and extreme hardiness to its children.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.50 per doz.

Gladiolus Psitticinus. The Parrot Gladiolus. Another African species with oddly shaped, hooded blossoms of red, green and yellow. It has imparted strength and heat resistance to our garden glads and is one of the parents of the strain known as the Gandevensis which was introduced in 1842. It is a rare species and not seen in many gardens in America.

Each, $2.50.

Gladiolus Quartinianus. This is very tall growing and late flowering but the blossoms are somewhat larger than the foregoing species. The blooms are well placed on good-sized stems and are red and yellow. In northern latitudes, it is well to plant the bulbs in pots in the house in March and transfer the started plants to the garden after danger of frost is past. Many of the late flowering Kunderd varieties trace their ancestry to this one.

Each, 25c; $2.50 per doz.

A Hardy Gladiolus. Now what do you think of that? I know you will say that one year you forgot to dig some of your glads and they came up next year, but you will remember they did not repeat the performance. But what we are now offering is the wild glad, Gladiolus Communis, which is absolutely hardy here in Central Ohio and it has survived zero

“Don’t give up. What if you are wrong once in a while. What do you suppose they put the rings around the bull’s-eye for?”
temperatures without any protection whatsoever. It's a dainty little glad, and while it does not reproduce rapidly from bulblets or cormels, it does reproduce quickly by bulb division and if it is not disturbed for several years, it forms quite a large clump, which when in bloom is mighty spectacular. The rich mauve or deep lavender blossoms have a cream colored tongue in each of the three lower petals.
Frequently five or more blooms are open at one time. No use talking, it's well worth planting and having for years and years. As it blooms early in June, delivery is made in the Fall so it may be planted at that time and be ready to charm you the next June. Stock very limited. Speak up soon or you'll likely be disappointed.

Gladiolus Tristis. A mighty interesting as well as beautiful wild gladiolus from South Africa where it is known as the Yellow Swamp Gladiolus or Africander. It should be planted in the Fall as it blooms in March and April. Where the Winters are not severe, such as the Gulf States and the Pacific States, it may be planted outdoors, but where the Winters are severe it may be had in bloom in the window garden or hot house. The foliage is scanty and very slender, reminding one of swamp grass. The stems are slender and tall and should be supported by a stake if grown in the house. It is hard to realize that the blossoms, which are quite large, (when the size of the stem is considered), are those of a gladiolus and not lily blossoms. Usually three or four of the pale yellowish cream florets are borne on each stem. The fragrance is very similar to that of a hyacinth, though not so overpoweringly sweet and is almost absent until toward evening. It's a perfect little darling and that's all there is to it. Fall delivery only. Each, $1.00.

Gladiolus Byzantinus. A native of Asia Minor and it is sometimes known as the Turkish Corn Flag. Though it is described as being wine colored, it has always been a mystery to us just what kind of wine was colored as this beautiful wildling. When in bloom, we have submitted a spike to a number of different persons asking their opinion as to its color. Here are some of the answers: Magenta, plum, pansy, purple, lavender, sort of red—sort of maroon and sort of this, that and the other, but no one was sure. As near as we can describe it, the main color is about the shade of red seen in a variety of cyclamen, often seen at Christmas time; but over this red there is an overlay of blue like the bloom on a plum. The spikes are erect and the florets well placed. Usually there are three or four florets open at one time. This is a Winter blooming species and should be planted in the open ground in the Fall in those states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico, California or wherever the Winters are mild. Where severe Winter weather prevails, it may be grown in pots in the window garden or in the hot house. It's well worth growing. We'd like to know what it's color is. Delivered in the Fall.

Each, $1.50.

Total $2.25

A fine array of colors in the late blooming varieties that will please you, and a saving of a half dollar in good hard cash.

SPECIAL OFFER NO. 1—$5.50

The combined collection of EABLY BIBDS and LINGEB LONGEBS for $5.50, a saving of $1.50

Not so bad is it?

THE BUTTERFLY COLLECTION—$2.50

Glads have so often been compared to butterflies that we have assembled a collection of Butterfly Glads. Some of these are time-tried older varieties and some are quite new. All are good.

- 4 Arden $0.50
- 2 Bengal Tiger $0.25
- 3 Cattleya $0.25
- 3 Jack London $0.25
- 3 Peace $0.25
- 3 Schwaben $0.25

Total $2.50

Every one of the above butterflies is entirely distinct and different from the others. We believe you will enjoy growing this collection. A half dollar saved is not to be "sneezed at" either.
Dr. Bales Favorite Collection for 1930
$10.00

Each year for the past two or three years, we have made up a collection of the glads that made an extra special impression on us, and have named it our “Favorite” collection. These varieties are the ones we liked the best, regardless of price. Some are bound to be more expensive than others, though price does not make them pretty. Here’s what we liked the best the past season.

1 Gladdie Boy ........... $0.50 1 Pelletier d’Oisy .......... 1.50
1 Harbinger ............. 1.00 1 Pennant (Gersdorff) .... 1.00
1 High Nye ............. .30 1 Mrs. P. W. Sisson ........ .75
1 Hollyhock ............. .75 1 Pride of Wanakah ........ .25
1 Lavender Bride ........ .75 1 Saraband ................. .50
1 Lullaby ............... .75 1 Superba ................ .35
1 Louis Hemon .......... .60 1 Tobersun ............... 2.00
1 Mission Bells .......... 1.00
1 Osalin ................ .35

$12.35

To our notion every one of these is a gem, though not all are diamonds. You’ll find a lot of pearls, rubies and at least one emerald (Pelletier d’Oisy) in this jewel box. Every one is unusually good in its particular way and $2.35 saved is no small item.

The Triangle Collection, $7.75

6 Rosemary ............... $0.50 1 Ocellus ................ 5.00
4 Starbright ............. 1.00
1 Mary O’Mine ........... 3.00

We repeat what we said in our 1928 catalog, if there is a duplicate for any of these glads, we have never seen it, and we’ve seen a lot o’ glads. We think each one stands “heads and shoulders” above any one in its class. We wouldn’t have paid a lot of money for the entire stock of each, if we were not sure that each one was a winner. Kunderd originated Starbright and Ocellus; Mrs. Austin, Mary O’Mine, and Chas. B. Wing, Rosemary. ’Nuf Ced. We want everybody to see these beauties in their own gardens, so we are offering the Triangle Collection for $7.75, a saving of $1.75.

We will go a bit further and will include a bulb of Blenn with the above collection for $27.50 and while we are going, we’ll take another step and will include one each of our 1930 introductions, Barton, Wake Robin and Nasturtium for $32.50.

This will include all the Triangle introductions or originations and we’ll admit, (what’s admitted does not need to be proved), that this collection cannot be duplicated anywhere. The entire collection catalogs at $41.50. A saving of nine good hard American dollars!

“Extra Special” Offer No. 3, 90c

Twenty named varieties of glads for ninety cents. This is not a mixture of discarded seedlings or a “pick-me-up” lot of unknown varieties, but is a guaranteed collection of twenty named standard varieties, all of which are priced in this catalog. While these bulbs will not be placed in separate bags as with other collections, we guarantee each one to be different and to please you. We’ll leave it to you. If you are not satisfied with this collection after the bulbs have bloomed—just speak the word and we will refund the purchase price. Fair enough. Isn’t it?

Mixed Bulbs, $3.00 per 100

Whenever we are not sure of the identity of any bulb, it finds its way into Bin No. 13. This is our bin of mixed bulbs, and these bulbs consist of those which are picked up in the fields after plowing, those that find their way out of their proper trays while in storage and in fact all “strays.” In this mixture there are always some of the very finest varieties as well as some of the less expensive ones. It is a sort of surprise package. One is just as likely to find a dollar variety as he is to find a Primulinus hybrid worth thirty cents a dozen. In pricing these mixed bulbs at $3.00 per hundred, we feel that our customers will surely get their money’s worth many times over. Why not try a hundred?
The Legend of the Iris

Once upon a time in the dim past, when the world was very, very young, in fact so young that the first baby born on earth was a tiny baby, an angel, sitting on the rainbow and viewing the earth beneath, spied this baby. Now (as everyone knows) angels are always born "grown up," so this tiny baby was a wonderful sight to the angel. She called another angel out to her and as they looked over the edge of the rainbow, their excited admiration of the wonderful baby brought other angels out upon the rainbow until it was literally loaded with angels; in fact the strain upon it caused it to break into a million fragments and these fragments falling, scattered "to the ends of the earth" and in every place where a fragment of the rainbow fell, an iris grew.

The iris is probably the hardiest of perennials and will stand more neglect and abuse than any other flower. The culture is simplicity itself. But two things are required to achieve good results: Sunshine and good drainage. While they will bloom after a fashion in shade, they will surely die if planted in wet places. This does not apply to the beardless irises, none of which are included in this list.

For the production of extra fine blossoms, bone meal is the only fertilizer we advise. Manure should never be used.

It is advisable to divide the clumps about every three years as they become so crowded that much better results are obtained by so doing. While irises may be transplanted at almost any season of the year, even while flowering, the best time for shipment is just following the blooming season when the roots are dormant and resting. We prefer to ship in July, August and September. They should be planted with part of the root above ground, "just as a duck rides the water, part under and part above the water." In case the freezing and thawing of the earth during Winter causes them to be pushed upward, firm pressure by the heel of your shoe will put them in their places again.

For quick results in mass effects, it is advisable to plant them in groups—three to six of a variety. By this manner large clumps are quickly formed. There should be from eight to ten inches between each plant. We grow a large number of varieties—but not many of some, hence it is advisable to order soon to avoid possible disappointment. The prices are for strong single roots, guaranteed true to name. The price per dozen is ten times the price of one; three plants of any variety may be purchased at the dozen rate. Remittance must accompany order. In the descriptions that follow, the standards (S) are the three upright petals, the falls (F) are the three drooping petals.

Afterglow. Tall stems bearing well-formed blossoms of lavender-gray with a suffusion of gold at the center. One of the newer varieties and delicately beautiful. 3 to 4 ft. Each, 30c.

Agnes Sorrel. Standards and falls pale slaty lavender blue with a clouding of yellow; pretty. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Albert Victor. S. soft blue; F. lavender. Tall stems, large blossoms, vigorous and fine. 40 in. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Alcazar. S. violet tinged with blue; F. rich purple; the stems are tall and branching and carry the large flowers proudly aloft. Each, 35c.

Ambassadeur. The standards are a smoky velvety purple and the falls are purplish maroon. It is surely a royally colored iris and the finely formed blossoms are carried proudly erect on tall branched stems. A favorite with every one who sees it. Each, 75c.

"Those who boast of broad, high foreheads should take a good look at a cow."
Ambigu. S. reddish purple; F. brownish red. Large flowers; well open. Fine. Each, 35c.

Anna Farr. S. white with a pale blue border; F. white with a blue base. Finely formed blossoms. Surely a beauty. Each, 75c.

Archeveque. S. rich purple violet; F. deep violet; the flower has a rich velvety appearance that is charming. Each, 35c.

Arlequin Malinois. S. spreading; pale lilac; spotted and blotched with dark violet; F. cream, suffused with dark violet; the flower sort of reminds one of a spotted Dalmatian dog; very attractive and unusual. Each, 30c.

Argus. Self colored, the standards and falls being dark purple. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Arnols. S. rosy bronze; F. rich purple. The effect is that of a red iris. Handsome, rich and velvety. Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Asia. One of the finest irises in the world. Tall, (often 4 ft. in height); strong grower; immense flowers; S. silvery lavender; F. light violet-purple, paler at edges; beard, golden yellow. Recommended. Each, $1.00.

Assuerus. Self colored, rich violet with a prominent yellow beard. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Athene. A fine white iris. The falls are heavily reticulated with violet brown at their bases. Each, 50c.

Aurea. Rich chrome yellow; one of the richest yellows; not tall but a fine inexpensive variety. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Balboa. One of the wonderful Mohr seedlings from California. We list several of them that we have acclimated and they are perfectly at home in our climate. Balboa is a tall, fine red violet bicolor and is a fine iris. Each, $2.00.

Ballerine. Tall stems, often three to four feet in height; S. light violet blue, broad, rounded, wavy edged; F. deeper in shade. Strong and vigorous. Sweetly scented. Each, 90c.

Bellorio. Another Mohr seedling and an unusual one, the color varying from mouse gray to pale blue. The blossoms are well placed on tall branched stems and it blooms over a long period. Each, $1.00.

Benacensis. An intermediate of pleasing color. S. violet; F. rich purple. Early; May flowering. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Blue Jay. S. bright clear blue; F. dark blue. One of the bluest of irises. Large sized flowers of good form. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Bridesmaid. S. white tinted with pale lilac, deeper colored at tips. F. creamy white, veined with lilac. A mighty pretty iris. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

B. Y. Morrison. S. pale lavender violet; F. velvety raisin-purple with a very prominent and distinct border of lavender. A strikingly beautiful iris and one no iris enthusiast should be without. Each, 75c.

Candelabre. S. long, slender, erect and flaring; bright violet with a multitude of small spots of dusky violet at the base; F. rich and velvety violet, striped at base with dusky violet. The markings give the flower a peculiar tigered effect. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Caprice. S. reddish lilac; F. same but somewhat darker. Beard yellow and conspicuous. A handsome and distinct reddish variety. 2 ft. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Celeste. Self colored, pale sky blue; delicately colored and beautiful. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Chas. Dickens. An old variety, but a favorite with us because of its delightful fragrance. The flowers are good sized and purple in color. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Cherubin. S. pinkish heliotrope over white; F. white broadly veined and suffused with deeper pinkish heliotrope. Large flowers, distinctly colored. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Clarence Wedge. Finely formed flowers. S. pale lilac with a golden sheen; F. velvety purple with a brownish overlay, bordered on one edge with pale violet and on the other with pale yellow. Orange beard. Unusually marked. Good. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.
Clio. Tall strong plant with broad foliage. Coloring similar to Pallida Dalmatica but lighter. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Col. Candelot. S. smoky coppery bronze; F. rich crimson. A tall free flowering red. 3 ft. Each, 40c; 3 for $1.00.

Comte De St. Clair. S. white with violet tinting; F. white striped with rich violet and with a pale violet edge. Dainty and pretty. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Conquistador. Large, deep mauve blossoms on very tall stems. Extra vigorous and fine. A Mohr masterpiece. Each, $2.00; 3 for $5.00.

Crusader. A fine light blue iris. The falls are held stiffly horizontal and the whole flower gives one the impression of a three-armed cross. Mighty popular. Each, 40c.

Dalila. S. white; F. stiffly horizontal, violet red. Prominent yellow beard. A good one. Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Dalmarius. S. pale blue suffused with yellow; F. darker with a pale brownish suffusion. Tall. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Darius. S. rich golden yellow; F. reddish violet with a pale yellow edge. A fine garden variety and exceptionally pleasing in groups. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Dominion. S. light bluish violet; F. rich indigo purple; distinct orange beard; massive blooms; excellent substance and texture. Rather tender and slow growing; must have some Winter and early Spring protection and perfect drainage. It’s a beauty. Each, $10.00.

Dorothea. Large blossoms of white suffused with pale lilac. Being an intermediate, the stems are not tall, (18 in.) but the flowers are unusually large for this type. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Dream. Self colored. A tall variety bearing good sized blossoms of soft clear pink. One of the tallest pinks. 36 in. Fine. Each, 50c; 3 for $1.25.

Dr. Bernice. S. golden bronze; F. reddish purple. Large flowers and very pretty. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Duchess De Nemours. S. pale bluish white; F. violet blue, striped on white. A dainty and chaste variety. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

E. L. Crandall. S. white with a wide border of deep blue; F. white with a deep blue border at base. The colors are bright and clear. A mighty pretty variety. Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00.

Eleon or Shakespeare. S. old gold; F. velvety maroon. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Erich. S. rosy lilac; F. violet purple. Large flowers and pleasingly colored. Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Esplendido. A big upstanding red purple bicolor of Mohr breeding. Large blossoms; tall branching stems. A strikingly beautiful iris. Each, $2.50.

Fairy. Standards and falls white with soft blue veining at their bases. Style arms clear light blue and very conspicuous. One of the daintiest in coloring. Should be in every garden. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Fairy Queen. S. light blue, irregularly bordered with dark blue. F. light blue, heavily veined with dark blue. All petals widely flaring and heavily tigered at their bases. A peculiar and charming low growing little iris. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Flavescens. Also called Canary Bird. Practically a self-colored pale yellow. An old-timer but still very valuable for massing as well as for cutting. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Frieda Mohr. A wonderful iris with pinkish blue standards and deep rose falls. Too beautiful to describe—it must be seen to be fully appreciated. Perfect in size, shape, substance, vigor—everything. Each, $5.00.

Gagus. S. light yellow; F. brownish Carmine violet. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Gaviota. The forerunner of a new race of plicatas which has the blues and purples replaced by yellow. Gaviota is creamy white and both standards and falls are edged with yellow. A very different and fine iris. Each, $1.00.

Ultimately, what isn’t good for all of us, isn’t good for any of us.
Gazelle. S. white, so heavily suffused with violet as to almost conceal the ground color. F. white heavily bordered with violet. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Grapta. Another very unusual and beautiful iris. It has been described as "molasses colored." The standards are yellowish brown and the falls are deeper in color. Distinctive.

Each, 50c; 3 for $1.25.

Her Majesty. Standards and falls rosepink, the latter with darker veins. Distinct and fine. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Hermione. S. erect; rich, clear blue. F. violet blue with golden brown reticulations at their bases. Prominent golden beard. Delightfully fragrant. Tall stems. Fine. Each, $1.00.

Hiawatha. S. pale lavender, flushed rose; F. royal purple, bordered lavender. Finely formed. Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Igouf. S. lavender blue edged with tan; F. blue purple. A fine iris that should be better known. Each, $1.00.

Imperator. S. reddish purple; F. same but darker. Exceedingly rich in coloring and excellent form. A beauty. Each, $2.00.

Ingeborg. Well-formed blossoms of good size and form. Extra early. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Innocenza. A dainty little flower of pure white with golden yellow beard. Mighty pretty. Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Iris King. S. yellow; F. rich velvety crimson. Tall, stately and strikingly colored. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Iroquois. S. smoky lavender; F. dark maroon. Tall. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Isolene. S. silvery rose with a faint suffusion of bronze; F. mauve with a golden undertone. Immense flowers, freely borne on tall stems. One of the most beautiful irises. Each, 40c; 3 for $1.00.

Ivorine. An intermediate of creamy white. Extremely early. 18 in. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Jacquesiana. S. bright coppery crimson; F. velvety reddish violet. A beauty. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

James Boyd. S. clear light blue; F. dark violet, tipped and edged lighter. Tall stems, large finely formed flowers. A real good one. Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Red Cloud.  S. rosy lavender bronze; F. velvety crimson. 24 in. Not tall but very distinct and about as near red as has been achieved in irises.
Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Rembrandt. Royal blue, deeper in falls.
Each, 25c; 4 for 50c.

Rhein Nixe.  S. pure white; F. rich raspberry purple with a distinct white border. Striking.
Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Romeo.  S. clear citron-yellow; F. mauve with a heavy blotch of violet at each edge of the petal. A striking variety and once seen will always be remembered. You will never need to place a label on Romeo.
Each, 50c.

Rose Unique. Another “pink” iris. Self-colored bright violet rose. The earliest in this color.
Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Rubella. Royal purple, a little deeper in the falls. Tall.
Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Sambucina.  S. coppery rose; F. rose purple, veined darker. The prominent feature is the elder blossom fragrance.
Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Santa Barbara. Probably the finest pure lavender iris in the world. Purest color; wonderful size; perfect form, with widely spreading horizontal falls. Another masterpiece from Mohr.
Each, $4.00.

Sarpedon.  S. soft bluish violet; F. hyacinth-violet. Beard white. Tall and fine.
Each, $1.00.

Sappho. White, sanded and bordered with bright bluish violet. Delicately colored and beautiful.
Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Sceptre.  S. bluish violet, suffused fawn; F. velvety royal purple with paler margins.
Each, 30c; 3 for 75c.

Windham. S. soft lavender pink; F. heavily veined darker. Large flowers delicately colored. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Wyomissing. S. cream-white, suffused delicate soft rose; F. deep rose, shading to flesh colored border. Each, 25c; 3 for 50c.

Zua. Delicate lavender white. The large early fragrant flowers are crumpled and ruffled like crepe paper. Fine and rare. Each, 50c; 3 for $1.25.

"Let me be a little kinder, let me be a little blinder
To the faults of those about me, let me praise a little more.
Let me be, when I am weary, just a little bit more cheery,
Let me serve a little better those that I am striving for.
Let me be a little braver when temptation bids me waver,
Let me strive a little harder to be all that I should be.
Let me be a little meeker with a brother who is weaker.
Let me think more of my neighbor and a little less of me."

NEVER IN IRIS HISTORY HAVE THESE WONDERFUL OFFERS BEEN DUPLICATED

With either of the two larger collections an iris lover could win any prize, in any class, at any iris show on earth, in addition to having the most brilliant garden in their neighborhood.

If you would rather pick your own collection we offer the following:

IRIS OFFER NO. AA
One each of any seven of our 25c varieties, postpaid for $1.00.

IRIS OFFER NO. XX
One each of any fifteen of our 25c varieties, postpaid for $2.00.

Special Landscaping Iris Offer

Without doubt, two of the best irises for landscape purposes are Pallida Dalmatica and Queen of May. The former is an extra tall lavender variety; the latter is not quite so tall and is one of the sturdiest pink ones. The color combination is charming, and a combined planting of the two is just fine. We have a large stock of each and are making the unprecedented offer of one dozen of each postpaid for $2.00.

Special Iris Bedding Offer

We have accumulated a large stock of the fine little dwarf purple iris which we think is Pumilla Cyanea—we are not even sure of its name, but it certainly is one of the most welcome flowers in the Spring, as it blooms at the same time as the jonquils. No finer border for a bed can be found. It is extra hardy, multiplies into a solid border and is a mass of rich purple little blossoms almost as soon as the snow is gone. It is also especially fine in the rock garden. Our large stock enables us to offer this little beauty at $1.00 per dozen, postpaid.

Notice to Garden Clubs

That members of garden clubs may become better acquainted with the iris, we have concluded to make a drastic reduction in prices. Every variety priced at 25c will be sent at the rate of ten for one dollar. This applies only when ten of ANY ONE VARIETY are ordered and presents an excellent opportunity for clubs or neighbors to combine their orders. It’s a mighty unusual offer. Yes-sir-ree!

"An expert is an ordinary man away from home."
Our Own Introductions

Originations of

Dr. B. R. Bales

Betty Bales

Standards broad and erect, pale bronzy yellow suffused with light lavender pink; falls pale pinkish mauve, shading lighter to the edges. Beard a deep yellow. Large flowers; strong heavy foliage. A mighty pretty iris.

Each, $1.50

Grey Dawn

Another of our own originations. Standards, blue-gray, erect and of fine arching form; falls somewhat deeper in color and slightly tinged with blue. Tall branching stems hold the beautiful large blossoms erect and they do not go over in windy weather. Valuable, also, by reason of the fact that it is exceedingly late blooming; it is at its best long after the “rank and file” have marched over the hill. It prolongs the iris blooming season for at least two weeks. We think Grey Dawn is about the finest iris in the world.

Each, $2.00
Snow

Originated by Dr. Bales. Standards and falls pure white with a glow of gold, like the sunlight shining through a cathedral window. Falls reticulated at the haft with gold and brown. Conspicuous orange beard. Well-formed flowers that will stand rain and wind and "keep smiling."

Each, $2.50

Snowcapt

The standards are pure white and held stiffly erect. The falls are richest purple and are held horizontally. The strikingly colored flowers are of good size, have excellent substance and texture and are well placed on the best of stems. Surely a beautiful iris.

Each, $1.50

Excerpt from "A little work, and a little play"

A little work, and a little play
To keep us going—and so, good-day!
A little warmth, a little light
Of love's bestowing—and so good-night!
A little fun, to match the sorrow
Of each day's growing—and so, good-morrow!
A little trust that when we die
We reap our sowing! And so, good-by!

—George du Maurier.

THE TRIANGLE FARMS

Tulips

We like to compare the flower year to a monster clock, and as the pendulum swings to and fro, tick-tock, tick-tock, in our fancy we can see the mammoth hour-hand point to one flower after another as it comes into bloom. When the clock strikes One, it's tulip time! These wondrous flowers have a history of improvement extending over hundreds of years, and they may be obtained in countless forms and colors. Being among the first flowers to bloom in the Spring, the “grown ups” are almost as enthusiastic as the children, when the gorgeous blossoms unfold.

Owing to the fact that we raise practically all of our own tulip bulbs, we have been enabled to make a very substantial reduction in the prices. What bulbs we import from Holland are from the fields of one of the largest and oldest growers there and whether “home-grown” or imported are guaranteed absolutely.

We are listing only those varieties we grow in our own extensive gardens and know them to be good and reliable.

Special Tulip Offer No. 1—$2.75

Two each of the 20 varieties of Early Single Tulips (regular price $2.90), postpaid for $2.75.

△ YOU'RE MIGHTY WELCOME AT THE TRIANGLE FARMS △
Early Double Tulips

There is no flower that gives better results when massed than double Tulips. Most of them make wonderful cut flowers, also. In cemeteries where it is permitted, this type of Tulip is widely used for grave decoration. No garden is complete without its quota of double varieties.

Anna Roos. Large, double flowers of bright deep, unfading rose. A mighty pretty flower and very popular.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Boule de Neige. Surely one of the most beautiful of Double Tulips and mightily well named, (Ball of Snow). A few blossoms arranged in a low bowl make a wonderful table decoration. When used as a cut flower, it is hard to distinguish them from big, white peonies. Pure white and deliciously fragrant.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Couronne d'Or. Fine large blossoms of old gold tinted with orange-red. Tall stems; good substance.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Mr. Van Der Hoef. Beautiful large blossoms of pure golden yellow which does not fade or become flamed with red or orange. Extra good. Striking when planted with purple pansies.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 65c; \text{ doz.}, $1.25; 100, $10.25. \]

Murillo. White, becoming tinged with delicate pink as the flower ages. Fine for either forcing or bedding. An old-time favorite.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Titian. Large flowers of bright red with a yellow border. Strong, erect stems. Looks like a double Keizerskroon.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 45c; \text{ doz.}, 85c; 100, $6.25. \]

William III. Large, brilliant scarlet blossoms. Very double. Surely one of the most brilliant red Tulips. Looms up like a house afire.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 75c; 100, $5.75. \]

Special Tulip Offer No.2

75 Cents

Two each of 7 varieties of Early Double Tulips (regular price 90c), for seventy-five cents.

Every hour spent in your garden adds a day to your life.

"Throw away your wishbone, straighten up your backbone, stick out your jawbone, and step on 'er!"
Parrot Tulips

Tulips of this type are probably the most brilliant and unusual of all. The petals are serrated along the edges and resemble the feathers of a bird. No doubt their name was suggested by the resemblance of the petals to the brilliantly colored feathers of a parrot. The blossoms when fully expanded frequently measure six inches in diameter.

Admiral de Constantinople. Bright orange-red.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Cramoisi Brilliant. Carmine-red.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Perfecta. Yellow, feathered with scarlet.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Lutea Major. Golden yellow, tinted green at the edge.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

Markgraaf Von Baden. Rich orange inside; outside of petals feathered scarlet and yellow.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 40c; \text{ doz.}, 70c; 100, $5.60. \]

SPECIAL TULIP OFFER NO. 3—50 CENTS

Two each of 5 varieties of Parrot Tulips (regular price 65c), postpaid for half a dollar.

Two New Varieties of Parrot Tulips

Fantasy. One of the most beautiful Tulips in the world. It is a sport of the Darwin Tulip, Clara Butt, and is a soft clear pink, just like its "ma." It has tall stiff stems like all Darwins. The petals are feathered and waved and laciniate. Heightening the beauty of the flower are the light green spots and stripes on the outside of the petals. This is surely one of the finest Tulips.

Each, $1.00; $11.00 per doz.

Gemma. Another new Parrot Tulip which blooms at the same time as the Early Single Tulips. The stems are stiff like the Early Single Tulips. The color is pure white. Sometimes there is a faint tinge of pink at the edges of the petals. It opens widely and reminds one of a delicate lace handkerchief. Certainly a beauty and mighty rare.

Each, $1.00; $11.00 per doz.

Lily-Flowered Tulips

Tulips of this class have long, pointed petals and when in full bloom the petals flare widely and are recurved, giving the blossom the appearance of a lily. Some of them have Darwin ancestry and some of them are placed with the Cottage Tulips. Most of them have the blood of the species Tulipa Retrloflexa in their veins.

Adonis. Beautiful blooms of bright rosy red. Tall stems add to its attractiveness. A beauty that makes a fine cut flower.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 80c; \text{ doz.}, $1.50; 100, $12.00. \]

Artemis. Large blooms of brilliant carmine-rose. This variety blooms just a little later than Adonis. Fine.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 80c; \text{ doz.}, $1.50; 100, $12.00. \]

Picotee. This is usually classed with the Cottage Tulips, but it has the same shape as all Lily-Flowered Tulips. The petals are long, slender and sharply pointed; white with the edges of rose. As the blossom matures, the rose suffuses the whole bloom. A dainty little beauty.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 35c; \text{ doz.}, 65c; 100, $5.00. \]

Retroflexa. This is the mother of all the Lily-Flowered Tulips. The petals of lemon-yellow are bent back almost to the stem. It's dainty and mighty attractive. You won't find it listed in many catalogs.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 45c; \text{ doz.}, 85c; 100, $6.75. \]

Sirene. The finely formed blossoms of rose have a satiny sheen and are borne on tall, graceful stems. One of the most attractive of the Lily-Flowered group and very popular.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz.}, 55c; \text{ doz.}, $1.00; 100, $7.75. \]

SPECIAL TULIP OFFER NO. 5—75 CENTS

Two each of 5 varieties of Lily-Flowered Tulips (regular price 90c), postpaid for 75 cents.
Cottage or May-Flowering Tulips

Tulips of this type have been grown about the cottages and country homes of England and France for generations. Having long, graceful stems, they are unexcelled either for garden decoration or for use as cut flowers. They are found in almost every color.

Bouton d’Or. Golden yellow, ball-shaped blossoms with contrasting black stamens. Fine for bedding and unexcelled for cutting.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &25c; \text{ doz., } 45c; \text{ 100, } $3.50. \\
\end{align*}

Caledonia. Brilliant orange-vermilion blossoms that seem red hot. Fine for garden or for cut flowers.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &25c; \text{ doz., } 45c; \text{ 100, } $3.50. \\
\end{align*}

Fairy Queen. The coloring of the large blossoms is very unusual and beautiful, being hellebore with a distinct amber-yellow border to each petal. A color combination seldom seen in any flower.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &35c; \text{ doz., } 65c; \text{ 100, } $5.00. \\
\end{align*}

Gesneriana Spathulata. Monstrous dazzling scarlet flowers with a blue-black center. A gem for cutting and wondrously brilliant in the garden. Not equalled by any red variety. Heartily recommended.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &35c; \text{ doz., } 65c; \text{ 100, } $5.00. \\
\end{align*}

Inglescombe Yellow. Beautiful tall-stemmed, pure yellow blossoms. Often called the yellow Larwin Tulp. Mighty fine.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &30c; \text{ doz., } 50c; \text{ 100, } $4.25. \\
\end{align*}

Isabella. Who has not heard of Shandon Bells? Well, this is the flower. The stems are not as tall as some of the other varieties, but the color and form is fine. Creamy white tinged with carmine, which becomes more intense as the flowers fully develop. Wonderful for bedding, either massed or when used as a border.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &35c; \text{ doz., } 65c; \text{ 100, } $5.25. \\
\end{align*}

John Ruskin. Imagine a Tulip with the soft coloring of an Ophelia rose, and it will be John Ruskin. The soft blending of pink, apricot and yellow produces a color combination that is altogether charming.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &40c; \text{ doz., } 70c; \text{ 100, } $5.60. \\
\end{align*}

Striped Beauty. Clear glowing pink, distinctly striped with white. Not quite so tall as some, but a charming little variety and to be fully appreciated, should be seen.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &50c; \text{ doz., } 90c; \text{ 100, } $7.50. \\
\end{align*}

The Fawn. An unusual and beautifully colored variety; fawn, tinted with rose. The rose shading becomes more pronounced as the blossom becomes more fully developed.

\begin{align*}
\frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., } &35c; \text{ doz., } 65c; \text{ 100, } $5.00. \\

Darwin Tulips

These are the aristocrats of the Tulip kingdom. The blossoms are immense, the stems are tall and strong and a wide range of colors is embraced. Under good conditions of soil and cultivation, they may be grown to a height of almost three feet. As cut flowers they are unexcelled and they are unequaled for garden decoration. In Tulipdom, in our fancy, we can see the early-flowered varieties as flower girls and bridesmaids, but when the Darwins come into their own, we can hear the majestic strains of “Here comes the bride!”

Baronne de la Tonnaye. Bright rose shading to soft pink at the edges. Large flowers of beautiful form.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 70c; 100, $5.60.} \]

Bartigon. Bright carmine-red with a white base which is very prominent when the flower is fully expanded. Early.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.00.} \]

Bleu Aimable. Bright violet-purple shaded steel-blue; inside dark violet-purple. Large and handsome. Late.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.25.} \]

Clara Butt. Large, beautiful salmon-pink blossoms on tall, erect stems. Everyone’s favorite.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.00.} \]

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.00.} \]

Europe. Brilliant glowing salmon-scarlet, tinted rose.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.00.} \]

Farncombe Sanders. A variety that has stood the test of time. Fiery rose-scarlet with a blue, white centered base. The broad-petalled flowers are of perfect form and very large.

Flamingo. Not so large as some of the Darwins, but the exquisite pure rose flowers are finely formed and of a distinct shape. It is hard to find a more beautiful Tulip.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 30c; doz., 55c; 100, $4.50.} \]

Feu Brilliant. Brilliant scarlet blossoms on good, long stems. Looks “red hot.”

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 55c; doz.,$1.00; 100, $7.50.} \]

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.} \]

Harry Veitch. Glossy blood-red blossoms of large size on tall stems. Bright and cheerful.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 45c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.75.} \]

Iris. Large, fiery crimson, blue-based blossoms; tall stems.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 45c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.75.} \]

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.} \]

La Candeur. Large, globular, erect flowers of lovely blushed white, becoming almost pure white as the flower ages. The contrasting black stamens enhance its beauty.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 45c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.60.} \]

La Tulipe Noire (The Black Tulip). More nearly black than any other Tulip. Deep maroon-black that has a satiny sheen in the sunlight. Odd, interesting and beautiful.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.60.} \]

Le Notre. A fine, tall Tulip of bright rose. A good, dependable variety and very popular.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.60.} \]

Madame Krelage. Large blossoms on tall stems. Bright lilac-rose, margined with pale silvery rose. The inside of the petals is soft rose-pink. Fine in every way.

\[ \frac{1}{2} \text{ doz., 35c; doz., 55c; 100, $5.10.} \]
Massachusetts. Soft rose with a tint of carmine; pink inside and a white base. Large flowers of splendid form and color.
1/2 doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.10.

Matchless. Enormous blossoms of a splendid pure rose color. One of the aristocrats. Surely a beauty.
1/2 doz., 65c; doz., $1.25; 100, $9.50.

Mrs. Potter Palmer. Immense flowers of bright purplish violet. Extra good and very popular.
1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.75.

Nauticus. Large flowers of glowing dark cerise-rose with a clear violet center. A very meritorious variety.
1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Petrus Hondius. Large, showy blossoms of bright carmine-rose.
1/2 doz., 60c; doz., $1.10; 100, $9.75.

1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $5.75.

Pride of Haarlem. Brilliant rosy carmine, often with a purplish suffusion. Enormous flowers of superb form and stately beauty. Its great height and glorious color combine to make this the most popular Darwin Tulip in the world. Wonderful when used as a border about shrubbery or when massed. Equally good as a cut flower.
1/2 doz., 25c; doz., 45c; 100, $3.50.

1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Prof. Rauwenhoff. Gigantic blossoms of cherry-red with a glow of scarlet inside, borne on extra strong stems. A dandy.
1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Sierra Van Flora. Brilliant rose colored blossoms of good size. Early blooming and fine in every respect.
1/2 doz., 35c; doz., 65c; 100, $5.00.

Sir Trevor Lawrence. Large flowers of a peculiar shade of reddish violet. Fine.
1/2 doz., 55c; doz., $1.10; 100, $8.75.

Whistler. Fiery crimson-scarlet with a steel blue base. A brilliant spot in the garden.
1/2 doz., 55c; doz., $1.10; 100, $8.75.

Special Tulip Offer No. 6—$3.65

Two each of the 30 varieties of Darwin Tulips (regular price $4.00), postpaid for $3.65.

I'm just simply wild about Winter,
You've heard me remark that before;
But we've had a good freeze
And a snow and a sneeze.
Now I'm ready for Summer once more.
—DUDLEY FISHER.
Breeder Tulips

PROBABLY the most interesting types are found in this class of Tulips. The flowers are as large and frequently larger than the Darwins; the stems are tall and heavy and the colors are unusual—the bronze, brown, brassy, smoky, mahogany and buff tones are found in this class. The peculiar thickness of the petals gives the flowers great substance, which makes for strength and good keeping qualities when used as cut flowers, as well as a long blooming season in the garden.

Amazone. Large blossoms of violet with a brownish yellow base. Unusual and fine. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Attraction. Blush violet with the inside of the petals glowing purple. A fine bedding variety. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Bacchus. Large blossoms of deep plum-purple with a darker bloom on the outside of the petals. The color of a ripe Concord grape. Looks good enough to eat. ½ doz., 80c; doz., $1.50; 100, $12.00.

Belle Brunette. Beautiful flowers of good size and form. Light brown shaded and suffused with violet. ½ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Bronze King. Golden bronze with a slight tint of reddish; olive and yellow base. One of the art shades and very popular. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Dom Pedro. Large flowers of a peculiar shade of coffee-brown, tinted maroon. Inside of petals, rich mahogany. Oddly beautiful. ½ doz., 60c; doz., $1.10; 100, $9.00.

Goliath. Dark violet with a rose brown flush. Tall, stately and extremely handsome. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Indian Chief. Large flowers, exquisitely formed on extra tall stems. Coppery red. Just like a noble Indian Chief. Each, 90c; ½ doz., $4.60; doz., $9.00.

Jupiter. Tall, fine, glossy violet blue with a contrasting white base. Large blossoms. Extra good. Each, 40c; ½ doz., $2.40; doz., $4.50.

Klopstock. Another fine violet-blue, but the blossoms are not as large nor the stems as tall as Jupiter. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

La Singuliere. Silvery white, speckled and spotted with violet; when in full bloom, the flowers are maroon-violet. A different color every day. ½ doz., 60c; doz., $1.10; 100, $9.00.

Lucifer. Bold, gorgeous, fiery orange blossoms on good, tall stems. Surely an outstanding variety. ½ doz., $1.30; doz., $2.50; 100, $20.00.

Louis XIV. Tall, stately, dignified blossoms of purple, beautifully edged with golden bronze. A royal beauty. ½ doz., 95c; doz., $1.75; 100, $14.40.

Marie Louise. A beautifully colored Tulip of rose with a salmon sheen, edged with bronzy orange. A color effect hard to describe. Take our word for it, Marie Louise is a beauty. ½ doz., 50c; doz., 90c; 100, $7.25.

Medea. Rosy carmine, flushed with salmon. Extra fine. ½ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Panorama. Immense flowers of reddish mahogany. Should be seen to be appreciated. ½ doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Prince of Orange. Brilliant orange-red, shading to pure orange at the edge of petals. ½ doz., 60c; doz., $1.10; 100, $9.00.

Roi de Siam. Beautiful flowers of purplish violet. Extra fine and handsome. ½ doz., 60c; doz., $1.10; 100, $9.00.

St. James. Dark lilac blossoms with a rosy suffusion. The petals are edged with bronze. The blossoms are very large and the stems extra tall. Superb. ½ doz., 50c; doz., 90c; 100, $7.25.

Turrenne. Immense flowers of violet brown; edged with soft yellow when fully developed. ½ doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Yellow Perfection. Olive-yellow with a deep suffusion of gold. In a class by itself. ½ doz., 50c; doz., 90c; 100, $7.25.

SPECIAL TULIP OFFER NO. 7—$3.85

Two each of 22 varieties of Breeder Tulips, not including Indian Chief (regular price, $4.20), postpaid for $3.85.
Late Double Tulips

Here is a class of Tulips that is almost unknown in America; in fact, they are “few and far between,” there being less than a dozen varieties known to horticulture. They might be classed as double Darwins, as they bloom at the same time and have tall stems. It is hard to believe they are Tulips, as they more nearly resemble peonies or full blown roses. We list but three varieties.

Blue Flag. Large, double blossoms of violet-blue. Tall, sturdy stems. Mighty fine.
1/2 doz., 75c; doz., $1.40; 100, $11.00.

Yellow Rose. Well named. Looks like a golden yellow rose. Tall, strong stems. Fine.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 85c; 100, $6.75.

Mariage de Ma Fille. Looks like a big peony blossom; crimson, striped with white. Very double; tall stems. As unusual as it is beautiful.
1/2 doz., 75c; doz., $1.40; 100, $11.00.

Special Tulip Offer No. 8

55c

Two each of the three varieties of Late Double Tulips for 55 cents.

Rembrandt Tulips

Tulips of this class are all variegated. Some of them white on a darker ground color; others white, variegated and feathered with the darker color. They are brilliant and exceedingly decorative and are derived from Darwin Tulips, though the blossoms are usually not quite as large. The stems are long and good. Interesting and beautiful.

Apollo. Rosy lilac, feathered with white and with deep carmine markings. Pretty.
1/2 doz., 40c; doz., 75c; 100, $6.00.

Caracalla. White, flamed and feathered with red. Brilliant and fine.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 80c; 100, $6.25.

Constance. Lilac flamed, feathered and variegated with dark violet.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 80c; 100, $6.25.

Leda. White, brilliantly striped with crimson.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 80c; 100, $6.25.

Red Prince. Fiery red feathers and flames on a rosy pink ground. Extra brilliant and fine.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 80c; 100, $6.25.

Romeo. Lilac and white with dark purple feathers.
1/2 doz., 45c; doz., 80c; 100, $6.25.

Special Tulip Offer No. 9

70c

Two each of the above 6 varieties of Rembrandt Tulips (catalog price 80c), for Seventy cents.

$14.25
Two each of 100 varieties of Tulips, our selection (regular price about $19.00), postpaid for $14.25. A saving of almost five dollars!

Digging Time Tulip Offer

As with gladioli and other bulbs, each year we have some mixed Tulip bulbs. Whenever we are not sure of the identity of a bulb, it goes to Bin No. 600. This is the bin of mixed Tulip bulbs and the contents consist of bulbs which are picked up in the fields after plowing, bulbs that find their way out of their proper trays while in storage, bulbs from which the labels are accidentally lost—in fact, all "strays" or "pick-me-ups." They are all good bulbs and usually a great many varieties will be found among them—often high priced ones, but being unnamed we cannot fill orders from Bin No. 600, so we are offering this mixture while it lasts (our stock of mixed bulbs is always small), for $3.60 per hundred. If you would like to try this offer, please order early as the supply is always small.

Botanical Tulips or Wild Species

There are many varieties of wild Tulips that will do well under cultivation. They form a delightful addition to the garden, and while they are not as hardy as the cultivated varieties, with proper care they will charm you for years. Most of them should be planted deeply (6 to 8 inches deep), in loose, sandy soil, in the rock garden or in borders. We list but three varieties this year, but one of these (Carinata Rubra), is exceedingly rare. Many extensive growers of Tulips have never seen it.

Carinata Rubra. This rare species is much larger and taller than most of the wild Tulips. In fact, it is as tall as an ordinary Tulip. The coloration reminds one of a poinsettia. It has the true Christmas coloration. Bright red and green. The stems are strong and tall, and it is a mighty pretty Tulip. Stock exceedingly limited. But one bulb to a customer. Each, $1.00.

Clusiana. This is one of the daintiest little flowers in the garden. The three outer petals are cherry-red and the three inner petals are creamy white. It closes up every night or when the sun goes under a cloud. When closed the red petals are all that are seen, but when the sun is out, the long, pointed petals are widely flared and it exposes the bright violet star at the base of the petals. It has been called the "Lady Tulip" and the "Candy Stick" Tulip. It's a perfect little darling.

Kaufmanniana. Here is the earliest species to bloom. The stems are out of all proportions to the size of the flower. It is seldom more than 4 inches high, but the blossoms are good sized. They remind one of a water lily as they open widely. The color is soft cream, flushed with carmine and the center is yellow. It certainly is pretty and is specially adapted to the rock garden, where the bulbs should be planted at least 6 inches deep.

$1.75; doz., $3.50.

You're mighty welcome at the Triangle Farms
Daffodils

These are the real heralds of Spring, as they usually begin blooming before Jack Frost has taken his ignominious departure. We like to compare the daffodils to the heralds of the flower parade as they signal their approach by a fanfare played upon their golden trumpets. Their number is legion and to one unfamiliar with the various varieties, the descriptions in most catalogs are confusing. To become better acquainted with them, we made a personal visit to the large farms where ours are grown and studied them at close range, and selected eight varieties that were very distinct and outstanding. They are all strong, hearty varieties and we guarantee them.

Barri Conspicuus. Large flaring perianth of light yellow. Broad cup of orange with a distinct scarlet border. A variety that finds instant favor as soon as seen. Beautiful, exceedingly floriferous, sturdy in every way and one that we can unreservedly recommend.

Empress. The trumpet is buttercup yellow and the perianth is creamy white. A fine combination of color; contrasting but harmonious. The Empress wears her cloth-of-gold robes trimmed in ermine. Surely a fit companion for the Emperor, and these two varieties should be planted near each other as their blooming dates are the same.

3 bulbs, 30c; ½ doz., 55c; doz., $1.00.
Emperor. Probably the most popular daffodil in the world. Bright yellow, with a long, finely frilled trumpet. Absolutely dependable and as unchanged under all conditions as the Rock of Gibraltar. This variety and his consort, the Empress, are the most widely grown varieties.
3 bulbs, 30c; ½ doz., 55c; doz., $1.00.

Campernel. The daintiest and sweetest of all the jonquils. It comes into bloom among the earliest, bears several perfect little long-trumpeted blossoms on each stem and is as sweetly fragrant as a violet. Reminds one of a little fairy of the Spring casting its delicate fragrance to the April zephyrs. The color is lemon-yellow. To have it is to love it.
3 bulbs, 25c; ½ doz., 45c; doz., 80c.

King Alfred. Immense, stately, impressive and beautiful. Gigantic blossoms with long finely frilled trumpets, tall strong stems, sturdy constitution, deep butter-yellow coloration and excellent keeping qualities as a cut flower, distinguish this aristocrat of the daffodil nation. Certainly well named for it is truly a regal flower.
3 bulbs, 85c; ½ doz., $1.60; doz., $3.00.

Mrs. Langtry. A dainty white daffodil lady. The petals of the perianth are slender and the flower possesses an uncommon grace and chaste beauty that places it in the front rank of desirable varieties. Recommended to those who want something just a little different for their gardens.
3 bulbs, 25c; ½ doz., 45c; doz., 80c.

Ornatus. The perianth is snowy white, while the short, widely flanged cup of yellow is edged with red. This is one of the forms of Poet's Narcissus and is similar to the common Pheasant's Eye, but it is much better, being larger and blooms two weeks earlier.
3 bulbs, 25c; ½ doz., 45c; doz., 80c.

Princeps. A fine large flower of pure yellow. The most welcome of all the daffodil family as it is the first large variety to bloom in the Spring. The snow has hardly left until his smiling face is seen, and frequently he has his face washed by a late Spring snow. Absolutely hardy and dependable.
3 bulbs, 25c; ½ doz., 45c; doz., 80c.

Special Daffodil Offer No. 1. Two each of the eight varieties of daffodils for $1.50.

Special Daffodil Offer No. 3. A half dozen of each of the eight varieties of daffodils for $4.00.
Hyacinths

In the vanguard of the flower parade, following closely after the daffodil heralds with their golden trumpets, come the hyacinths. They do not announce their approach by a fanfare of trumpets, but usher it in with fragrant Spring-time breezes to the musical tinkling of countless little bells, some white, some pink, some blue. Though primarily a flower for the garden, no flower is easier grown in the window garden in Winter. For window gardens, successful growers of hyacinths plant the bulbs in pots and store them away in some dark place that is not too warm for six weeks, when they are brought to the light. Very soon the bulb awakes and the flower spike appears.

The price of all varieties of hyacinths is the same. Two large blooming-sized bulbs of any variety for 35c. A half-dozen of any variety for 90c. A dozen for $1.75.

Cardinal Wiseman. Fine large flowers of rose.

City of Haarlem. Large spikes of bright lemon-yellow.

General De Wet. Immense spikes of delicate light pink.

Grandeur A. Merville. Large spikes of blush white. Delicately beautiful.

Grand Maitre. Fine deep porcelain blue. Large spikes. The most popular blue hyacinth.

King of Belgium. One of the finest scarlet varieties; good for either forcing or bedding.

L’Innocence. Broad loose spikes of purest white. Excellent for either forcing or bedding.

Perle Brilliant. Extra large spikes of a fine shade of light blue.

Queen of the Pinks. Fine deep pink. Large spikes.

Lilies

No garden is quite complete without its Lilies. No flower is easier to grow and but few are more satisfactory. When once planted, they may be left undisturbed for years and they will come up year after year to greet you and make the garden sweet with their fragrance and beauty. We offer only the varieties that have bloomed and behaved well for us. We grow our own bulbs of the Regal Lily, but we annually import our Pink, and Gold-Banded Lilies from Japan. They are all perfectly hardy. The bulbs should be planted deeply; one foot under the ground is not too much. To get the best results, the bulbs should be planted upon their sides, not upright, and should be surrounded with sand before the hole, in which they are planted, is filled. Never let manure or any kind of fertilizer come in contact with a Lily bulb or (for that matter) and other bulb.

The Regal Lily (Lilium regale). A new and glorious Lily from China. It has the trumpet shape of the Easter Lily, but is larger. The flowers are white, sometimes suffused faintly with pink; the center is a beautiful canary color; the reverse of the petals is light bronze or amber. Tall spikes (often over four feet high) proudly carry the jasmine-sweet blossoms. The wonderful substance and glorious beauty combine in making this a perfect cut flower.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

The Gold-Banded Lily of Japan (Lilium auratum). Enormous flowers with reflexed petals borne on four-foot stems. The flowers are pearly white, thickly studded with crimson-chocolate spots and each petal is striped through the center with golden yellow. The blooming season is from July to September and each tall, graceful spike, crowned with its wealth of huge blossoms, is a sight that is not easily forgotten.

Each, 50c; $5.00 per doz.

The Pink Lily (Lilium speciosum rubrum). Probably the most popular Lily in our garden. The large, reflexed petals are deep rose, shading to lighter at the edges and are freely spotted with crimson. Stems often four feet high. One of the very best of cut flowers and absolutely good in every way.

Each, 35c; 3 for $1.00; $3.25 per doz.

The Tiger Lily (Lilium tigrinum). The old-fashioned Tiger Lily of our grandmothers' gardens. Tall stems crowned with numerous large orange blossoms, thickly speckled and spotted with black.

Each, 25c; $2.40 per doz.
The Double Tiger Lily. Did you ever see a double Lily? No? Well, here it is. Identical in coloring with the single Tiger Lily, but double clear to the center. Stays in bloom a long while and is not only an odd flower, but beautiful as well. You'll like it.

Each, 50c; $4.50 per doz.

The Henry Lily (Lilium Henryi). This is often called the yellow speciosum Lily. It has the same shape and habits as the Pink Lily, but is apricot instead of pink, and is speckled (the marks are too small to be called spots) with black. It stays in bloom a long while and is a very, very satisfactory Lily. It is sure to please you.

Each, 75c; $7.50 per doz.

The Coral Lily (Lilium tenuifolium). A perfect little darling from Siberia. You know its "got" to be hardy when its home is in the land of snows. This is about as dainty a little flower as could be imagined. The color is bright coral-red. The stems seldom grow more than a foot and a half high; often not more than a foot, which makes it a charming addition to the rock garden. It blooms real early in the Summer and has up to a dozen nodding little blooms to the stem.

Each, 40c; $3.75 per doz.

Miscellaneous Bulbs

Tuberose

Well known and popular because of its orange blossom fragrance and white, waxy, double flowers, which rise on long spikes from rich green and graceful foliage. To get early blossoms of Tuberoses it is suggested that they be started in pots in the house some time during April and transferred to the garden after all danger of frost is past. Strong bulbs.

Each, 10c; 3 for 25c; $1.00 per doz.

Tigridia

Tigridia pavonia. Sometimes called Mexican Shell Flower or Flame Flower; is one of the most showy of Summer flowering, bulbous plants. It blooms from midsummer until frost, grows about two feet high and produces large, wide-open, triangular blossoms often four to six inches across. Probably no flower, in recent years, has become as popular as the Tigridia, and justly so, for there is no more brilliant spot in the garden than where the Tigridia reflects the brilliant rays of the midsummer sun. The colors and markings are very brilliant and peculiarly odd and attractive, being golden yellow, spotted and blotched with bright red. Clumps of them, planted in the border, are most gorgeous. The culture is the same as for gladioli.

Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Can anybody remember when the times were not hard and money not scarce?—Emerson.
Grape Hyacinths

These fine little "blue bells" have been grown in old-fashioned gardens for more years than you or I can remember, and are especially fine for borders, for the rock garden and they will even grow in the grass if it is not too thick. Blooming at almost the same time as the crocus, they fill their own particular place among the worthwhile, time-tried flowers as well now as they did in our grandmothers' gardens a hundred years ago. Once established, they will charm you, your children and your children's children. Per doz., 60c.

Summer Hyacinths (Hyacynthus candicans)

What would you think of a Hyacinth that, instead of growing but a few inches above the ground, would soar upward to a height of from 3 to 5 feet? The Summer Hyacinth does this and more, too, for often after it has "soared," it makes up its mind to "soar" again and sends up another spike and possibly a third before the season is past. The tall spikes hang full of pure white, bell-shaped flowers and are so conspicuous that at a short distance they might be mistaken for a yucca in full bloom. Summer Hyacinths are charming when planted in groups to themselves and they are especially fine when used in the center of a canna bed, or as a "center-piece" in any formal flower bed. If you have never grown them, you have a delightful experience awaiting you.

Each, 15c; 2 for 25c; $1.40 per doz.

Ismene Calathina

Here is a bulbous flower that is not as well known as it should be. It is sometimes called the Peruvian Daffodil, as the large, creamy white blossoms, to a certain extent, resemble immense daffodil blooms. Several flowers are borne on each stem and the leaves closely resemble those of the amaryllis. If you have never "tried your hand" at growing Ismenes, you're going to have a lot of fun with them.

Each, 25c; $2.25 per doz.

Fritillaria Imperialis

Better known as Crown Imperial. An old time favorite in the gardens of "long, long ago." It's a striking flower and once seen is never forgotten. Early in the Spring it sends out a dense rosette of rich green leaves and from the center of this there is produced a stout stem which bears at its top a large plume of green leaves. Clustered about the stem beneath the plume are as many as a dozen orange colored, bell-shaped, lily-like blossoms. Like a fiddle or wine, or even some folks, it improves with age and is better each year.

Each, 50c; $4.75 per doz.
Perennial Plants

During the past years, at the Triangle Farms, we have grown a number of hardy perennials for cut flowers for florists. Visitors at the Farm have insisted on buying every spare plant that we did not need for our purpose. We have, therefore, to supply the insistent demand for good, strong, dependable plants, decided to grow enough to supply our friends. Hardy plants have a good many points in their favor, not the least of which is that once established in their new home, they demand but little care, and emerge from their Winter's sleep to brighten the garden, year after year. Our list of these plants is not a large one, but every variety listed is time-tried and we know it to be a first rate one.

The price for all varieties, unless otherwise specified, is the same.

Heavy, field-grown plants, one or more years old, each, 35c; $3.00 per doz.

Half dozen furnished at dozen rates.

Plants shipped by express, purchaser paying charges, or we can ship them by parcel post if wanted in this way. In this case, add 10% of the value of the order to pay postage. We guarantee our plants just the same as our bulbs, and if, after receiving them, you are in any way dissatisfied, let us know and we will replace anything you mention without charge and without question. The customer is always right. We want to consider each patron a personal friend whom we may help to brighten God's footstool by growing beautiful flowers.

ANCHUSA ITALICA. Every visitor at our gardens was loud in the praise of this beautiful plant, with its blossoms of heavenly blue. The leaves are large and velvety and the tall plants are a mass of bright blue flowers for more than a month. It adds a blue tone to the perennial garden when this color is sadly needed. Unreservedly recommended.

BABY'S BREATH (Gypsophila paniculata). Large, symmetrical masses of delicate white, misty blossoms. Exceedingly ornamental in the garden and a perfect cut flower as it may be used in almost every bouquet. The blossoms may also be dried and used in Winter bouquets. About sixty per cent of our stock consists of the double variety.

CANTERBURY BELLS (Campanula medium). These well-known, tall, imposing, hardy biennials are extremely showy with their large, bell-shaped blossoms on tall spikes. Blooms in June and July. We furnish it in mixed colors: pink, blue and white.

CENTAUREA MONTANA. A hardy Centaurea. The large, blue, daisy-like blossoms are borne much earlier than those of the annual Centaurea. Well established plants get to be quite large and are exceedingly ornamental.

COLUMBINE (Aquilegia). These should form a very important part of any hardy garden and should be more widely grown. Easy of growth, beautiful colors, adaptable to almost any soil. Blooming season, late Spring and early Summer. We grow Mrs. Scott Elliott's strain of English, long-spurred hybrids. These are very large and come in an endless combination of colors: pale blue, purple, pink, straw, rose, red, lavender, white, mauve, yellow and many bicolor combinations and are exquisitely beautiful.

COREOPSIS LANCEOLATUS. A hardy Coreopsis. The flowers are a rich golden yellow, borne in the greatest profusion nearly the entire Summer. Long stems make this an ideal cut flower.

CHINESE LANTERN PLANT. A mighty interesting plant that produces its seed in a sort of husk, shaped for all the world like a Chinese lantern. These husks turn red in the Fall and may be dried for Winter use in the home. A few of these bright red "Chinese lanterns" in a vase make a mighty cheerful spot in the living room when the snow is flying.

DELPHINIUM BELLADONNA. This is the exquisite, clear turquoise-blue variety. The long, showy spikes of flowers persist from June until cut down by Jack Frost, especially if the old stalks are cut as soon as through blooming. One of the most satisfactory blue flowers grown. Unexcelled as a cut flower, as it combines harmoniously with almost any other flower. Do not mulch with straw or manure in Winter, but cover the crowns of the plants with coal ashes.

"A person's happiness depends on the degree of satisfaction and enjoyment he gets out of his work."
ERYNGIUM AMETHYSTICUM (Sea Holly). The large, shiny leaves lie close to the ground forming a green rosette. The tall flowering stalk is metallic blue and reminds one of a thistle that has been coated with the light blue metal. Fine for Winter borders. A novelty well worth a place in the perennial garden.

FOXLOVE (Digtalis). An old standby and a favorite in the garden during June, July and August. Furnished in mixed colors: rose and white.

HEN AND CHICKENS. This was a favorite in old-fashioned gardens. The handsome little rascals? of our grandmothers' gardens make a welcome addition to any hardy garden. The burs, cloverlike-odor is not so strong and overpowering as that of a carnation, but is just sweet enough. Our stock is composed of a mixture of white and various shades of pink; some with eyes and some without. They are very strong growers and soon crowd out the weeds and form a perfect mat of foliage and flowers.

BLANKET FLOWER (Gaillardia grandiflora). One of the most desirable hardy plants in cultivation. No matter how dry the season or how scarce other flowers are during hot, dry weather, the Gaillardia will continue to thrive and produce a wealth of blossoms of bright yellow with a striking center of deep maroon. A constant and cheerful bloomer from June until frost. Our stock originated from imported seed and hardly ever two plants show the same color combination.

HEN AND CHICKENS. This was a favorite in old-fashioned gardens, and the charm is in the plant itself, rather than in its blossoms. The parent plant consists of numerous thick leaves arranged in a rosette and the young plants or chicks surround the "old hen." It is a fine plant for rock gardens as it will thrive in the hottest, driest soil. Under good care and intensive cultivation, it may be grown "as big as a plate."

LEOPARD LILY (Pardanthus chinensis). This is the old-fashioned Blackberry Lily of our grandmothers' gardens. The handsome little orange blossoms are spotted with fine dots of black and are borne on branching stems. The foliage is iris-like and the seeds are grouped in a cluster much resembling a ripe blackberry. At one time this little beauty was in almost every cottage garden, but it has become very rare in late years.

PAINTED DAISY (Pyrethrum). Beautiful large, daisy-like flowers of all shades of pink from the palest blush to bright rose. Finely cut foliage adds to the beauty of the plant. Absolutely dependable and one of the easiest culture. Perfectly hardy, invaluable for cutting and heartily recommended for every garden. Plenty of fertilizer will increase the brilliancy of bloom.

PURPLE CONE FLOWER (Eryngium amethysticum). The plants are tall and they bear a large number of rosy purple, daisy-like blossoms that have a cone-shaped brownish center. The blossoms are large and stay fresh for days when used as cut flowers. The plants increase in size and beauty with age.

SHASTA DAISY. Needs no introduction. Huge, pure white Daisies from early Summer until frost. Immensely productive of the finest of cut flowers. A good feature of this flower is that the older plants produce finer flowers and more of them.

SWEET WILLIAM (Dianthus barbatus). An old-fashioned flower that produces large flowering heads of rich and brilliant colors: scarlet, pink, crimson, salmon, white—some with "eyes" and some without. A lasting flower, both in the garden and in the vase.

TRITOMA. Called by a number of names such as Torch Lily, Red Hot Poker, Flame Flower, Devil's Tongue—all of which are more or less descriptive of the bright red flower. The blossoms are like flaming spears which push their way up through the graceful foliage and stand out "like a house afire." Tritomas respond readily to good treatment and should have a heavy mulch of horse manure in the Winter.

Pansies

Those who have never seen our immense beds of blooming Pansies have missed a sight worth coming miles to see. We annually grow more than fifty thousand plants of this popular flower and the long beds are like great multi-colored ribbons. The strong, bushy plants are a perfect mass of immense blossoms that have a sort of appeal to everyone. They are ruffled, frilled and fluted and are found in almost every imaginable color—rich, velvety Burgundy red, deep yellow with dark faces and without, pure white, satiny black, purple, light and dark blue, lavender, pink, henna red, cream, old gold, smoky yellow, burnished brass, striped, blotched and bordered with different colors. Who can resist the "sassy-faced" little rascals?

Plants shipped in the Spring by express, carriage charges paid by the purchaser. It is not wise to ship by parcel post, as the mass of earth attached to the roots makes the cost of transportation excessive. Fifty plants furnished at hundred rate.

Per doz., 75c: per hundred, $5.50.

WIRED WOODEN LABELS

We are prepared to furnish wired wooden labels at 50c per hundred. Add 10c per hundred extra to cover postage.

Golden Bantam Sweet Corn

To be successful, every farmer must rotate his crops. The same plant should not be grown in the same ground year after year. One of our by-crops is GOLDEN BANTAM SWEET CORN. We have the pure strain of the best and sweetest Sweet Corn that ever melted in your mouth. If you have never tasted Golden Bantam Corn, you have a delightful experience awaiting you. If you have been initiated, no more need be said. We will send you a large packet of the pure seed with your bulb or plant order for twenty-five cents.
